My dear Congressman:

Your letter of November 16, 1943, addressed to the Attorney General concerning the searching of employees of a Navy Yard by Marine guards has been referred to this Bureau.

It appears the question arises out of the actions of members of the Armed Forces while on a Naval establishment.

Matters of this nature are not within the jurisdiction of this Bureau but of the Navy Department, and for that reason I am unable to be of assistance to you. I venture to suggest the Navy Department may be in a position to give you the information you desire.

With expressions of my highest esteem and best regards,

The Honorable Francis Biddle
Attorney General of the United States Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Biddle:

I have been informed by some of my constituents, who are employed in the Navy Yard, that periodically the employees at the Yard are searched when leaving the grounds. It seems that not everyone is searched but perhaps one in every ten and the person is pulled out of line and ordered into the small building occupied by the marine who is on guard and there he is searched.

They have asked me to find out if the guard has a right to stop the men and search them in the manner in which he has been doing it. If it is necessary to search the men when they leave the Yard and everyone is searched, the men would not object to it so strenuously but when it is done only occasionally and then perhaps only one out of ten picked at random, they do object very strenuously.

May I hear from you promptly in regard to this matter.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas D'Alessandro, Jr., M. C.

On October 22, at approximately 4:30 p.m., I received a telephone call from Miss Garmatz of Congressman D'Alesandro's office. The Congressman is from Baltimore, Maryland. His extension is 365.

Miss Garmatz stated that Congressman D'Alesandro would like to have delivered to his office copies of the reports made to Congress by the FBI concerning Hatch Act investigations. Miss Garmatz was advised by me that the FBI had not made any reports to Congress concerning Hatch Act investigations. She was told that there had been some reports furnished by the Attorney General to Congress concerning Public Laws 135 and 644, both of which have expired. She stated that she thought this was what the Congressman had in mind.

I told her I would inquire into the situation and would communicate with the Congressman's office further. It is suggested that the attached letter be forwarded to the Congressman.

Dear Congressman:

Reference is made to the request of your arm of your office to Mr. Sullivan of this Bureau of Hatch et reports submitted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation to the Congress.

For your information, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has never submitted any reports to Congress concerning its investigations conducted under the Espionage Act. You will recall, however, that H.R. 100 and 644 of the 77th Congress required the Attorney General to file a report to Congress. As a result, the Federal Bureau of Investigation furnished its investigative accomplishments to the Attorney General, who in turn prepared a report which was submitted by him to Congress. I have, accordingly, advised the Attorney General today of your request for copies of these reports and I am sure that you will desire to communicate directly with the Attorney General's office with further reference to this request.

With expressions of my best wishes and best regards,

Sincerely,

Supervisor Orrin H. Bartlett advised me that while talking to Congressman Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr. (D., Md.) on March 26, 1946, the Congressman advised Agent Bartlett that he was running for Congress again in the fall 1946 election and that in 1947 he was running for the office of Mayor of Baltimore.

Congressman D'Alesandro advised Agent Bartlett that since he had been on the Appropriations Committee, he has been back of the Director and the Bureau one hundred per cent, and further, that he was vitally interested in and completely satisfied with the results of the Bureau's work.

The above is set forth to show Congressman D'Alesandro's opinion of the Bureau.

D'Alesandro Is Elected Mayor As Democrats Sweep Baltimore

House Member Defeats
Deeley Nice by Margin
Of 24,272 Votes

By the Associated Press

BALTIMORE, May 7.—Democrats were back in complete control of Baltimore City today after Representative Thomas D'Alesandro, 43, captured the Mayor's chair by a 24,272 unofficial majority over Republican Deeley K. Nice, in yesterday's municipal election.

Complete unofficial returns gave Mr. D'Alesandro 96,161 votes against 71,889 for Mr. Nice. The victorious candidate will succeed Republican Theodore R. McKeldin, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Mr. D'Alesandro rode a Democratic tide that swept the party's entire slate into 20 City Council seats and the offices of Council president and city controller.

Serving his fifth term in the House of Representatives, Mr. D'Alesandro, dean of Maryland's congressional delegation, plans to resign his seat May 18 or 19, after which a special election will be held to name his successor. When Mr. D'Alesandro resigns, Representative Sasscer, Democrat, of the 5th district, will become dean of the delegation.

Mr. D'Alesandro is a former chairman of the Welfare Subcommittee of the House District Committee.

C. Markland Kelly, Democratic nominee for City Council president, had an unofficial total of 103,949, far ahead of J. Edward Adkins, Jr., his Republican opponent, who had 48,070.

J. Nell McCardell, Democrat, had 102,424 votes compared with the

48,156 credited to Republican William F. Laukaitis in the contest for city controller.

The office of Mayor will be vacated May 20 by Mr. McKeldin.

Mr. D'Alesandro, a native of Baltimore, was born August 1, 1903, and began his political career by winning election to the Maryland House of Delegates in 1926.

He was re-elected in 1930. He served a term in the Baltimore City Council and won election to his first term in Congress in 1936.

The Baltimore voters rejected by an unofficial count of 56,457 to 24,809 a plan which would transfer from the Governor to the Mayor the power of appointing Baltimore's police commissioner.

The Governor has had the appointment authority since 1900.

THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO, JR.

D'Alessandro was born August 1, 1903, at Baltimore, Maryland. From November, 1933, to July, 1934, he was employed as General Deputy Collector, Treasury Department, Bureau of Internal Revenue, Office of the Collector of Internal Revenue, Baltimore, Maryland. In 1940 he formed an insurance agency partnership in Baltimore, Maryland. D'Alessandro is married and has four children.

Throughout his life D'Alessandro has been actively engaged in politics in the State of Maryland, has been a member of the Maryland House of Delegates, on Baltimore City Council, member of the United States Congress from the Third Congressional District and Mayor of the City of Baltimore. On March 28, 1961, he was sworn in as a member of the United States Renegotiation Board.

D'Alessandro has been connected with the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship and the International Workers Order, in that he reportedly had spoken at meetings or was listed as one of a large group of sponsors of these organizations which have been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450. However, an article in the "Baltimore Sun" newspaper dated March 10, 1945, indicated that D'Alessandro announced he would not attend a meeting (on problems of White Collar and Fixed Income Workers) because some of the persons listed as sponsors of the meeting "are politically known as communist sympathizers and speakers."

There have been allegations that D'Alessandro has associated with the Baltimore criminal element and [redacted] [redacted] and the son, Franklin Roosevelt D'Alessandro, had been arrested for rape. All available living sources of these allegations were contacted in 1961 and stated this information is based on hearsay and rumor. These sources were unable to recall the sources of the original allegations.

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

D'Alesandro's son, Franklin Roosevelt, was one of a number of individuals arrested on a rape charge in 1953. He entered a plea of not guilty. He was subsequently tried for rape and perjury and found not guilty. A source stated that although there was a rumor that "some sort of pressure had been exerted" to acquit Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, he had no knowledge of such pressure and stated that it was the consensus of opinion he was found not guilty because his case was handled in a brilliant fashion by one of Maryland's outstanding attorneys.

Over one hundred persons including social acquaintances, political associates, professional associates and neighbors were interviewed in 1961 concerning D'Alesandro and his relatives and commented favorably. One political opponent stated that during the time he opposed D'Alesandro in a senatorial campaign he did considerable research into his background and was unable to obtain anything tangible of an adverse nature, even in a general way, concerning D'Alesandro. This individual advised that he would have used any information in his campaign that would have been critical of Mr. D'Alesandro's character, integrity, honesty or reputation. However, one United States Senator stated that he would hesitate to recommend D'Alesandro unqualifiedly without first knowing the position for which he is being considered. Another individual stated he would be hesitant in recommending D'Alesandro for any office where he would be in a position to award contracts without first having the approval of another supervisor.

On 1/24/61 Mr. P. Kenneth O'Donnell, Special Assistant to the President requested Mr. C. A. Evans to have a name check made concerning the captioned individual who is a former U. S. Congressman and former Mayor of Baltimore, Maryland.

D'Alesandro has never been investigated by the FBI. Bureau files were reviewed and the attached letter to Mr. O'Donnell summarizes the information concerning D'Alesandro.

Information in the attached letter concerns D'Alesandro's connection with three Communist Party front organizations during the 1940's which have been designated pursuant to EO 10450.

It should be specifically noted that the balance of the attached letter concerns allegations of D'Alesandro's involvement with [redacted] with favoritism in awarding city contracts to [redacted] protection for political contributors and interference in police investigations and the prosecution of local cases. The letter further sets forth allegations that [redacted]

[redacted] Information is also set forth concerning the trial of D'Alesandro's son for rape, his acquittal, and his subsequent trial for perjury, and acquittal.

It should also be noted that the above-mentioned allegations in many cases are rumor and have not been substantiated by the Bureau. However, it is believed Mr. O'Donnell should be advised of the nature of such information inasmuch as D'Alesandro is possibly being considered for a Presidential appointment, and if such an appointment is made the above allegations will undoubtedly be aired.

organization to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, from May 9 to May 10, 1942. This release listed Congressman Thomas D'Alesandro as one of a large group of sponsors of this National Conference. (100-7046-144)

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that the climax of the American-Soviet Friendship Week was a rally held at the Lyric Theater in Baltimore, Maryland, on November 18, 1943, under the auspices of the Baltimore Chapter of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Incorporated. The source advised that present on the stage on the occasion of this rally were Baltimore Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, United States Senator George L. Radcliffe and Congressmen Daniel Ellison and Thomas D'Alesandro. The National Council of American-Soviet Friendship has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450. (100-146964-148 pp 28,29)

It was reported that on August 27, 1944, Italian Lodges 2517 and 2502 of the International Workers Order held a picnic at the Finnish Hall, 703 South Ponca Street, Baltimore, Maryland, at which the main speaker was Congressman D'Alesandro. The International Workers Order has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450. (100-3-8-191X pg. 10)

In 1944 an official of the Better Business Bureau, Baltimore, Maryland, advised that William Curran, reputed Democratic boss in that city, and Thomas D'Alesandro, the United States Congressman from Maryland's Third Congressional District, had used their influence with the Baltimore Police Department and local magistrates to hinder investigation and prosecution of crimes. This individual alleged that in one case, William J. Orsotti, a promoter of fraudulent schemes throughout the United States, had initiated activities in Baltimore, Maryland. It was alleged that investigation of Orsotti by the local police department was obstructed by Mr. D'Alesandro. It was also alleged that numerous weight shortages in Baltimore coal deliveries in violation of the Coal Ordinance were not prosecuted because of the influence of various coal dealers in East Baltimore who were said to be heavy contributors to Mr. D'Alesandro's political fund. (62-75147-3 serial 3, Enc. pg. 15)

Mr. P. Kenneth O'Donnell

In 1945 it was alleged that one Charles F. Cammarata had been able to get away with all sorts of criminal activities in Baltimore, Maryland, and had operated almost unmolested due to his friendship with and the protection of Congressman Thomas D'Alesandro. At that time, Cammarata was reported to be engaged in gambling activities in various dice and card games in Baltimore. (62-75147-3-8, Enc. pg. 10, 22)

In 1946 it was alleged that one "Bunny" Lignor had operated a gambling establishment at 29th Street and Greenmount Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland, which was then utilized as the United Cabmen's Social Club, Incorporated. In 1946 it was reported that this building was being used by Lignor as Bunny's Liquor Store and that the building itself was owned by Abe Berman, an insurance man closely connected with the insurance firm of McCullough and D'Alesandro. It was further alleged that Berman had been able to furnish protection to Lignor's activities through his contact with Thomas D'Alesandro, who was a partner in the above insurance firm. (62-75147-3-serial 13, Enc. pg. 26)

In 1947 a well-known civic leader in Baltimore Maryland advised that Thomas D'Alesandro was [redacted]

Baltimore. (62-75147-3-26 Enc pg. 19)

In January, 1947, it was reported that Thomas D'Alesandro was a constant companion of John Cataneo; Benjamin Magliano, also known as Benny Trotta; and [redacted]. Magliano had been described as a Baltimore prize fight manager and gambler also engaged in the policy racket and bookmaking activities who had been questioned by the Baltimore Police on numerous occasions relative to various holdups, murders and other crimes. [redacted] was also described as a local gambler. It was reported that these individuals had worked hard for Thomas D'Alesandro's re-election to Congress and on his campaign at that time to become Mayor of Baltimore. It was stated that John Cataneo and Magliano during the time of this campaign were under Federal indictments for violation of the Selective Service Act and for fraud against the Government and were subsequently convicted in Federal court. Cataneo allegedly admitted giving large sums of money toward the Democratic campaign and stated that he would receive the sanitation contracts for Baltimore if Mr. D'Alesandro was elected mayor.

At that time it was also reported that applicants for positions in the Baltimore, Maryland, Police Department received preference for such positions after paying off Thomas D'Alesandro, who was said to be influential in the police department through William Curran. (62-75147-3-19 Enc. pg 21)

In 1947 it was reported that Mrs. William H. Baurenschmidt in a radio talk on the night before the primary election in Baltimore, Maryland, during that year had pointed out that she was opposed to Thomas D'Alesandro, candidate for mayor, because of his close association to James E. Pollack. She stated that Pollack had a criminal record consisting of fifty-four appearances in court and eighteen convictions. She reportedly recalled an untried murder case against Pollack which had been postponed from time to time and was finally nol-prossed by the State's Attorney. Mrs. Baurenschmidt also pointed out that Pollack had been denied a license to operate a liquor distillery by the Federal Government because of his criminal record. (62-75147-3-26 Enc pg. 20)

A former member of the Baltimore, Maryland, City Council, who was well acquainted with Thomas D'Alesandro, in 1947 advised that Mayor D'Alesandro was then in complete control of the Democratic Party organization of that city and had given a large part of the Mayor's patronage to James E. Pollack for his support in the mayoralty campaign. It was also reported that Pollack had become more powerful politically than William Curran, who for some years was considered the political boss of Baltimore. This individual further advised that the newspapers in Baltimore which supported D'Alesandro had quieted down in their objection to Pollack as a political leader because of Pollack's criminal record, in view of his connection with Thomas D'Alesandro. (62-75147-3-34 Enc pg 16)

Mr. P. Kenneth O'Donnell

On his May 31, 1953, radio broadcast. Drew Pearson discussed how Mayor D'Alesandro [redacted]

on two girls, aged eleven and thirteen, during July of that year. It was reported that Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro was the only one of twelve of those tried at that time who was successful in obtaining an acquittal. Following this acquittal, a Baltimore, Maryland, Grand Jury indicted Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro on charges of having committed perjury in that he had lied during the afore-mentioned trial on charges of rape. In addition, James H. Pollack, Baltimore City political boss, was reportedly also indicted on the charge of obstruction of justice in that he had attempted to influence testimony of several of the youthful defendants who had been tried with Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro. (62-75147-3-90 Enc. pg. 75, 76; Serial 92, Enc. pg. 77)

It was reported that Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro was tried on the above charge of perjury at Salisbury, Maryland, during 1954, following a change of venue, and was found not guilty.

In August, 1954, it was reported that Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, because of adverse conditions arising out of his political and family life, had been hospitalized [redacted] on March 10, 1954. [redacted]

Dominic Piracci was a contractor in Baltimore City [redacted] His company reportedly had been awarded approximately $4,000,000 in construction contracts sponsored by the City Off-Street Parking Commission and Courthouse project. Piracci in April, 1954, was found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the city of $42,996 in connection with the construction of an off-street parking garage in Baltimore. Piracci was also charged (and reportedly found guilty in April, 1954) with obstruction of justice in that he submitted to a Baltimore City Grand Jury a "completely phony" ledger to conceal $35,000 in weekly payments to the Peoples Holding Corporation. Reportedly, officers of this corporation were also charged with conspiracy to defraud Baltimore City in an off-street parking garage contract and Piracci allegedly produced the authentic ledger of the above payments following the issuance of a second subpoena. Kenneth O'Donnell, Special Assistant to the President, called and referred to the Director's letter furnishing him the results of a name check on D'Alesandro. He said that this information was particularly important in that it alerted the Administration as to the nature of allegations which had been made against D'Alesandro and if these allegations were true obviously the President wouldn't appoint him to any position in the Administration.

O'Donnell asked that we proceed with a Special Inquiry investigation but that if substantial derogatory information were developed, we should report this to him and discontinue any further inquiries because substantiation of any of the allegations would eliminate D'Alesandro from consideration.

This investigation is being ordered for immediate attention.

Synopsis:

Keystone Mutual Casualty Company liquidated 6/26/47 and no record maintained of agency status of appointee. ARTEMAS C. LESLIE, Attorney, Pittsburgh, Pa., formerly insurance commissioner of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, advises he has met appointee on several occasions and knows him to have a good reputation in the insurance field.

- RUC -

DETAILS:

EMPLOYMENT

On February 10, 1961, Mr. W. G. MC MORRAN, Manager, Finance Division, Better Business Bureau of Pittsburgh, Inc., Chamber of Commerce Building, 411 Seventh Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., advised that records of his office reflect the Keystone Mutual Casualty Company of Pittsburgh, a company which formerly operated in 26 states, was liquidated through a court order in 1947 due to false statements filed by officials of the company and all records of the company were turned over to the insurance commissioner of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Mr. MC MORRAN related his records do not list any of the agencies of the Keystone Mutual Casualty Company and he is sure that no agencies were involved in the criminal action in view of the fact that the false reports were filed in the State of Pennsylvania, and there was no record of any complaint from any of the other 25 states in which the company operated. MC MORRAN added that a review of his files of the Keystone Mutual Casualty Company of Pittsburgh failed to reflect any record of the appointee.

On February 10, 1961, ARTEMAS C. LESLIE, Attorney, 305 Park Building, 355 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, advised he was formerly the insurance commissioner of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and that the Keystone Mutual Casualty Company ceased operation of business on June 26, 1947, due to the fact that reserves as stated by the officers were not sufficient to meet the legal requirement in the State of Pennsylvania. LESLIE advised that as of December 31, 1946, Keystone Mutual Casualty Company had approximately 1000 agents operating in 26 states in which the company was authorized to do business. LESLIE stated that it is a requirement of the law that an insurance company file a statement each year in each of the states in which they do business and the reason for the liquidation of the company in Pennsylvania was that false reserves had been claimed by the officers in Pennsylvania.

LESLIE advised that the appointee acting as an insurance agent for the Keystone Mutual Casualty Company would have been licensed in the State of Maryland and any complaint filed against him would be filed at the insurance department for the State of Maryland, Baltimore 1, Md., and no complaint would be filed in the State of Pennsylvania in view of the fact the agent would not be operating in the State of Pennsylvania. LESLIE said that following full adjudication of the dissolution of the Keystone Mutual Casualty Company in 1952 personnel records were destroyed and only records of assets, liabilities and statements would have been maintained. LESLIE said the agency status of the appointee with Keystone Mutual Casualty Company would be maintained at the insurance department for the state of Maryland in view of his licensing through that department.

LESLIE added he has met the appointee on several occasions, growing out of his insurance work, since it is necessary for him to attend conventions and meetings relating to the insurance business. He stated the appointee is known to have a good reputation in the insurance field and he knows nothing derogatory concerning him.

EDUCATION AND EXPERIENCE

Wherever possible, exact dates in regard to the appointee's holding of various positions were sought out and reported. In those instances where these dates were unobtainable, the next best source was utilized.

The "Baltimore Sun" newspaper issue of May 11, 1947, in an article compiled by [redacted] related that "As a boy, D'ALESSANDRO went to the Parish school of St. Leo's." The article further relates appointee studied at a business school and got a job one summer thirty years ago (1917) as an office boy in the insurance firm that is now Poor, Bowen, Bartlett and Kennedy, and remained with this firm until January 1, 1941, when he and ROBERT J. MC CULLOUGH opened their own agency. The news item states the appointee's first employers in the insurance field made D'ALESSANDRO a broker and solicitor as soon as they adjudged him old enough.

A Dun and Bradstreet report, dated September 2, 1959, relates the partnership of D'Alessandro and McCullough as Insurance Agency did business in Baltimore, Maryland, until it dissolved in April, 1956. The same report states in April, 1956, the appointee opened his own insurance business at 210 East Redwood Street, and does business under the name of Thomas D'Alessandro & Son, although the appointee is the sole owner of the business. The report stated [redacted] reviewed by the firm. Dun and Bradstreet advised they were unable to make an accurate estimate of net worth of D'Alessandro, but the appointee is known to have been in receipt of fairly good income for some years from his position as Mayor of Baltimore and his insurance business. The current Baltimore telephone directory lists D'Alessandro & Son doing business at 210 East Redwood Street. Subsequent interviews set out in this report confirm appointee's continued affiliation with insurance business in the City of Baltimore.

An article in the magazine section of "The Sunpapers", Baltimore, July 26, 1953, as reviewed by IC [redacted] on February 8, 1961, reflects in an interview, the appointee advised during his early childhood, he had worked at the Union Box Factory, Van Lill's on Granby Street, and at the Todd Canning House. A review of current Baltimore City and Baltimore County telephone and other directories failed to reflect a listing of these firms as presently in business in the City or Baltimore County.

RICHARD A. LIDINSKY, mentioned previously, advised on February 8, 1961, appointee attended Calvert Business College in his youth, but review of current city and county directories failed to reflect a listing of this school as presently in existence.

On February 8, 1961, Mrs. RUTH McMILLEN, Secretary, Baltimore City Council, advised SA [redacted] that records of that office reflect the following information concerning appointee:

b6
b7C

1926 and 1930	Elected to Maryland House of Delegates for four-year terms ending in 1934.
1934	General Deputy Collector, Department of Internal Revenue
1935	Elected to Baltimore City Council for four-year term
1938	Elected to Congress of United States, 3rd Congressional District (five two year terms until 1948)
May 20, 1947	Sworn in as Mayor of Baltimore; Re-elected in 1951 and 1955
May 21, 1959	Left Office of Mayor - end of term.

On February 8, 1961, Mrs. ELIZABETH LAWSON, City Service Commission of Baltimore, 107 City Hall, advised SA [redacted] that records of that office fail to reflect any employment for appointee as a classified employee. Mrs. LAWSON stated records of elective offices are maintained by the City Council.

On February 8, 1961, a review of the records of the Maryland State Insurance Department, State Office Building, Baltimore, by SA [redacted], reflected the records of this department date from 1942 to the present time. The 1942 record indicates appointee was a licensed insurance broker for that year and for an unknown length of time prior to that. The record also indicates he had been an insurance agent prior to 1942. Appointee has maintained his status as an insurance broker since that time and in 1959, he obtained a lifetime license.

On February 8, 1961, Mr. W. E. DACKSON, Supervisor, License Bureau, Maryland State Insurance Department, advised SA [redacted]

he has known of appointee for over thirty-five years. He recalled appointee had originally started work as an office boy for Poor and Alexander Company, back around 1920 and had worked his way up to a position as Solicitor. Appointee was also a member of the Maryland House of Delegates in 1926 and Mr. DACKSON has followed appointee's political career since that time. He said appointee had been a very hard worker and had achieved many benefits for the people he represented in office. Although appointee has been the target of many accusations in the press, Mr. DACKSON thought appointee's political opponents were responsible for many of the statements. He believed appointee's terms in office had been generally good and if appointee were to run for office in Baltimore, Mr. DACKSON believed appointee would win.

Mr. DACKSON stated appointee had not been active in the insurance business during the time he was in Congress and Mayor of Baltimore City. The business during that time, was operated by appointee's partner, a ROBERT J. MC CULLOUGH. After the appointee was defeated in the 1959 primary election for Mayor of Baltimore City by J. HAROLD GRADY, present Mayor, he returned to the insurance business [redacted] Mr. DACKSON commented he did not know how active appointee was in insurance business at this time.

Mr. DACKSON stated that appointee's association with Mr. MC CULLOUGH commenced in 1940 and terminated in 1956. Mr. D'ALESSANDRO continued the business after that date [redacted] operating the business while appointee was Mayor of Baltimore.

Mr. DACKSON stated appointee's surety bond was with Employers Liability Assurance, Ltd. He said he would recommend appointee for a position of trust and confidence.

On February 8, 1961, [redacted] Maryland State Department of Insurance, advised SA [redacted] [redacted] that he had no record of any complaints filed against the appointee, and he personally could recall no complaints during the past five years. [redacted] pointed out that appointee was an agent for several insurance companies and if any complaints were recorded, they would have been placed in the file of the insurance company.

b7C

On February 8, 1961, Mr. JOHN H. COPPAGE, Deputy Insurance Commissioner, Maryland State Department of Insurance, advised SA [redacted] appointee has been selling insurance in Maryland since about 1930. No records are maintained of licensed agents prior to 1942 and for this reason, Mr. COPPAGE was unable to determine the exact date appointee started selling insurance in Maryland. In 1930, appointee was employed by Poor, Bowen, Bartlett and Kennedy, Inc., Insurance Brokers, as a Solicitor. Prior to that time, appointee had been employed in the office for several years as a clerk.

b6

Mr. COPPAGE noted appointee had remained with this firm selling insurance until he was elected to Congress in 1938. Appointee formed a partnership with ROBERT J. MC CULLOUGH in 1940 and this business continued until 1956, when it was dissolved. Thereafter, appointee took in [redacted] and continued the insurance business, [redacted] operating the business while the appointee was Mayor of Baltimore. He also noted that ROBERT J. MC CULLOUGH is now deceased.

Mr. COPPAGE pointed out that appointee was not very active in the insurance field from 1938 to 1959, because of his election to office during the period. He was content to allow his partner to operate the business during these years. After his defeat in the primary election in Baltimore City for Democratic nomination, appointee renewed his insurance license and now has a lifetime license to sell insurance. Mr. COPPAGE noted appointee is an extremely active man in politics, having started in the House of Delegates in 1926, and serving successively in the Baltimore City Council, Congress of the United States and as Mayor of Baltimore. In 1958, appointee was defeated in the General Election for United States Senator by the present United States Senator J. GLENN BELL. This was the first defeat in over thirty years for the appointee in any election.

During his tenure as Mayor of Baltimore, Mr. COPPAGE recalled appointee was subject to criticism and accused of many dealings, but Mr. COPPAGE believed this to be the voice of the political opposition and stated that appointee is still very active and popular in the political scene in Maryland.

Mr. COPPAGE said he knew nothing which would reflect unfavorably upon appointee, considered him to be a loyal American, and he recommended him for a position of trust and confidence. He said he could not recall any complaints being filed concerning appointee's insurance business.

On February 8, 1961, Mr. WALTER E. BEUCHELT, Special Assistant on Legislation to the Mayor, 217 City Hall, advised SA [redacted] he had served continuously in the Mayor's Office since 1920. Mr. BEUCHELT first became acquainted with appointee in 1926 when appointee was elected to the Maryland House of Delegates. In his position as Special Assistant on Legislation, Mr. BEUCHELT had occasion to contact members of the Legislature. In 1928, Mr. BEUCHELT received an interim appointment to the House of Delegates and he traveled to Annapolis and back daily with appointee. His seat was close to appointee's and he became a good friend of appointee, even though both were from different political parties.

Mr. BEUCHELT recalled that appointee was employed by an insurance firm in Baltimore--Poor, Bowen, Bartlett and Kennedy, during the time he was in the House of Delegates. In 1935, appointee was elected to the Baltimore City Council, where he served until he was elected to Congress in 1938. Appointee served five successive terms in Congress and in 1947, he was elected Mayor of Baltimore. From 1947 to 1959, Mr. BEUCHELT was in daily contact with appointee in his position as Special Assistant on Legislation.

During all of the time appointee was in the public service, Mr. BEUCHELT said he could recall nothing which would reflect unfavorably upon appointee. There were those who opposed some of appointee's programs, but the opposition was based primarily on party affiliation. He described appointee as a man of tremendous energy and of good character and reputation. He thought appointee to be a loyal American, to have good associates and to be genuinely interested in the welfare of the people. Mr. BEUCHELT could recall many instances of appointee calling various department heads to his office to explain some matters. He also recalled that when appointee believed something to be of benefit to the city and to the people, he was not a man to give in to pressure groups.

Mr. BEUCHELT said appointee had always impressed him as a man who wanted to know everything that was taking place in the city. For this reason, he believed appointee to be a person who would take an active interest in any undertaking or assignment he might receive.

Since 1959, Mr. BEUCHELT has had only occasional contact with appointee. He did know that appointee returned to his insurance business after his defeat in the primary election, but he has no knowledge of appointee's other activities. Mr. BEUCHELT highly recommended appointee for a position of trust and confidence.

On February 8, 1961, Mr. CHARLES W. BAY, Treasurer, Poor, Bowen, Bartlett and Kennedy, Inc., Insurance Company, 26 South Calvert Street, employed by this organization since 1926, advised SA [redacted] the appointee was an employee at the time Mr. BAY commenced this employment. Mr. BAY remembered a conversation with the appointee in 1926, in which the appointee said he had started work as an office boy for this firm, several years prior to 1926, when it was known as Poor and Alexander.

Mr. BAY advised he had heard several of the partners at that time, 1926, remark that the appointee had started from the bottom and was working his way up. He described appointee as a hard worker, honest, reliable and a loyal American. Mr. BAY stated appointee had been a member of the House of Delegates at Annapolis from 1926 to 1934 and in 1935, appointee was elected to the City Council of Baltimore. In 1938, appointee was elected to the Congress of the United States and shortly after that, appointee discontinued his association with this firm and opened a new firm with another insurance agent, Mr. ROBERT J. MC CULLOUGH.

Mr. BAY said the appointee's association with the firm of Poor, Bowen, Bartlett and Kennedy was a very pleasant one. He was well regarded by the other employees of the firm. Appointee worked his way up to a position of Solicitor and Sales Production with this firm. As best Mr. BAY could recall, appointee started selling insurance around 1929 or 1930.

Mr. BAY noted there are no other persons presently with the firm who would know appointee, as the last partner, Mr. PRESLEY BOWEN, passed away in 1958. He continued that appointee has some insurance contracts still in existence with this firm, on which he receives a yearly commission. Mr. BAY said he would highly recommend appointee for a position of trust and confidence.

Although Mr. BAY has had no close association with the appointee since he was elected to Congress in 1938, he has met appointee and talked with him on many occasions since then. Prior to 1938, appointee was in daily contact with Mr. BAY, at the place of business, and they were close friends in their outside activities. He recalled appointee as a devout church-going person, who was very concerned for his family and for the general welfare of the people he represented in public office.

TGR:epd

Mr. BAY said appointee was an aggressive person, who enjoyed personal contact with the public and especially liked to sell insurance. Appointee seemed to have a very strong body and to thrive on hard work. He noted appointee had dissolved his insurance association with ROBERT J. MC CULLOUGH in 1956, and thereafter, continued in the insurance business with one of his sons. Mr. BAY advised ROBERT MC CULLOUGH has been deceased since 1958. After the appointee's defeat in the 1959 Democratic Primary for Mayor of Baltimore, appointee returned to take an active part in his insurance business and is still engaged in that business, as far as Mr. BAY knows.

According to the "Evening Sun," a Baltimore, Maryland daily newspaper, issue of August 6, 1953, FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT D'ALESSANDRO, son of Mayor THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO, was accused with three other young men, of raping a thirteen-year-old girl. FRANKLIN D'ALESSANDRO was arrested on a "John Doe" warrant, issued after two girls told police that they had stayed in a West Preston Street apartment house and had been repeatedly assaulted by a group of young men, between July 20 - 28, 1953. Subsequently, in November, 1953, FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT D'ALESSANDRO was acquitted in Youth Court on the above charge.

In reply to a question by ARTHUR B. April 10, 1954

On April 9, 1954, Mrs. NANCY D'ALESSANDRO testified at PIRACCI's trial, SUPRA, that on August 8 or 9, 1953, PIRACCI told her he erased her name from his books, but she told him he should not have done it, since her transactions with him were legal.

Mrs. D'ALESSANDRO was questioned about six Piracci Construction Company checks, totaling over $11,000, which bore her endorsement, all but one of the checks being payable to her. She said four the checks were loans from PIRACCI, to cover personal debts contracted in business ventures.

She admitted borrowing $4,500 from PIRACCI on October 23, 1952, contending she repaid it within five days. Other borrowing transactions referred to were in the amounts of $1600.00, $1500.00, $2030.78, $700.00 and $800.00. Mrs. D'ALESSANDRO said the $700 and $800 checks were cashed by her, but she turned the $1500.00 in cash over to [redacted] since PIRACCI intended this money to be a gift to [redacted]. The Honorable J. HAROLD GRADY, Mayor of the City of Baltimore, advised on February 8, 1961, that he has known THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO, JR. professionally and socially since approximately 1946. Mr. GRADY commented that he has always considered the former Mayor to be an outstanding public figure and a person of the highest integrity. He has always found him to be sincere and completely honest in all of his dealings and certainly of unquestioned loyalty to the United States.

Mayor GRADY was questioned concerning his knowledge of the facts concerning the DOMINIC PIRACCI trial, inasmuch as Mayor GRADY was the States Attorney who handled the prosecution in this matter. Mayor GRADY stated that no testimony was presented in this case that reflected adversely on Mayor D'ALESSANDRO and the opinions of the court at the conclusion of the trial never mentioned either the Mayor or any other members of his family.

Mayor GRADY recalled that Mrs. NANCY D'ALESSANDRO was called as a defense witness and the only purpose of this was to identify items which appeared in the ledgers and books of the Piracci Construction Company.

Mayor GRADY further stated that nothing has come to his attention during the past fifteen years concerning THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO that would reflect adversely against him. He has always found him to be a man who possessed high standards and a devoted public servant. Mayor GRADY knows him to be a devoted family man and one who is extremely loyal to his friends and associates. Mayor GRADY stated that he highly recommended THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO, JR. for a position with the Federal Government.

An issue of the "Baltimore Evening Sun," a Baltimore daily newspaper, dated June 19, 1957, reflected that Mr. ROBERT J. MC CULLOUGH, a former insurance partner of THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO, JR., filed suit against D'ALESSANDRO and the D'Alessandro--McCullough Insurance Agency, of which Mr. MC CULLOUGH was a forty percent stockholder and D'ALESSANDRO a fifty percent stockholder. legislators, clergymen, trade union leaders, social workers, and teachers in Maryland were listed as sponsors. However, the majority of the members of the planning committee of the organization, which guided its policies and activities, have been identified by another confidential source who was familiar with certain phases of communist activity in the Baltimore area as members of District 4 of the Communist Party or the Communist Political Association of Maryland and Washington, D.C.

The Communist Party, United States of America, and Communist Political Association, have been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The Baltimore Sun on March 10, 1945, contained the story bearing the headline "3 Congressmen Shun Gathering." This news story reflected that "Representatives (THOMAS) D'ALESSANDRO, (GEORGE H.) FALLON and (H. STREET) BALDWIN yesterday said they would not attend a meeting tomorrow of which they have been announced as sponsors because the political views of certain other persons listed as sponsors 'are absolutely abhorrent' to them.

"The meeting and afternoon and evening conference on problems of white collar and fixed income workers will be held in the YWCA."

The article went on to state that Representative D'ALESSANDRO, who also spoke for representatives FALLON and BALDWIN, announced in a radio address in Washington, D.C., that the three Congressmen would not attend the meeting. He said that some of the persons listed as sponsors of the meeting "are practically known as communist sympathizers and supporters."

Baltimore confidential informants who are familiar with certain phases of communist activity in the Baltimore area were contacted during the current investigation and they advised that no information has ever come to their attention reflecting that THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO, JR. has ever had any connection with the Communist Party or has actively supported any communist front organization.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION

On March 28, 1946, ISADORE DECK, 1113 East Baltimore Street, advised SA H. BRANCH WOOD that ABE BERMAN, who is in the insurance business, in the same building with MC CULLOUGH and D'ALESANDRO, is the owner of the building in which BUNNY LIGNER operates his crap game on Greenmount Avenue, Baltimore. ISADORE DECK advised SA WOOD that BERMAN, because of his close connection with D'ALESANDRO, is able to act as a fixer for BUNNY LIGNER and others.

On February 9, 1961, ISADORE DECK advised SA [redacted] that he had previously furnished the above information to SA WOOD in about March, 1946, but could not state, at this time, that he had any information of a first-hand nature to justify the statement that D'ALESANDRO has used his influence with the police or anyone else in authority to assist the illegal operations of BUNNY LIGNER in the operating of a crap game at Baltimore City at that time. ISADORE DECK said his previous statements were merely based on rumor and were conclusions as a result of the fact that D'ALESANDRO's insurance company's office was in the same building where ABE BERMAN also had an insurance office. DECK told SA [redacted] that BERMAN, who was also politically prominent, was known to be a very close friend of the late Judge J. ABNER SAYLOR of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City, and also of [redacted] of the Diamond Cab Company. DECK advised BERMAN died several years ago and in DECK's opinion, BERMAN probably had connections that aside from his friendship with D'ALESANDRO, could have helped him in getting protection for BUNNY LIGNER, if so desired. DECK advised SA [redacted] that he could furnish no information to justify the inference that D'ALESANDRO had engaged in any improper activity on behalf of ABE BERMAN or any other person.

Information was received in January, 1947 by SA JAMES V. SULLIVAN from PETER C. GALIANO, who was the subject of a Selective Service Act investigation of the Baltimore Office that Representative THOMAS D'ALESANDRO is a constant associate of JOHN CATANEO, BENNY TROTТА, and [redacted] a local big-time gambler. Similar information was also received from [redacted]

[redacted] who was a suspect in a National Motor Vehicle Act theft case in the Baltimore Office. It was alleged that CATANEO, TROTТА and [redacted] worked diligently for the re-election of D'ALESANDRO to Congress and were then working on the campaign for the Congressman's election to the Office of Mayor of the City of Baltimore. It was further alleged that CATANEO had given large sums of money to the campaign chest of this party and CATANEO does not hesitate to say that he ~~did~~^{was} receive the sanitation contracts for the City of Baltimore in the event D'ALESSANDRO is elected to the Mayor's Office. CATANEO also supposedly was well-regarded by D'ALESSANDRO because he had control of a large Italian vote in Baltimore.

In January, 1947, JOHN CATANEO, owner of the American Shipcleaning Company, Baltimore, Maryland, was under Federal indictment in the United States District Court, Baltimore, with several other defendants, where he was charged with making false statements concerning the fitness and liability for Selective Service of BENNY TROTTA under the Selective Training and Service Act. TROTTA, CATANEO, and one DOMINIC DRECCHIO were also indicted on a charge of fraud against the government in requesting payment of the U. S. Army Transportation Corps at Baltimore for the services of TROTTA as an employee of the American Shipcleaning Company during the period when TROTTA actually did not work for the company. During the investigation of this case, SA JAMES V. SULLIVAN had occasion to be at the American Shipcleaning Company Offices in Baltimore on a number of occasions and had seen appointee in the company of JOHN CATANEO.

PETER GALIANO, 401 North Bradford Street, Baltimore, Maryland, advised SA THOMAS LEACH, JR. on February 8, 1961, that the information he gave SA JAMES V. SULLIVAN in January, 1947, about JOHN CATANEO, BENNY TROTTA and [redacted] working for the re-election of D'ALESSANDRO was only rumor and hearsay. He could not recall who gave him this information or whether or not there was any truth to these allegations. He explained that he was never well-acquainted with any of these men and he had no personal knowledge of their affairs. He specifically stated that he did not have any personal knowledge of the personal life, private or political affairs of THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO, either in 1947 or since that time, other than what might appear in the newspaper.

[redacted] advised SA THOMAS LEACH, JR., on February 8, 1961. that he is the [redacted] who formerly resided at [redacted] [redacted] in 1947. He stated he remembers talking with a Special Agent of the FBI at Baltimore, Maryland in January, 1947, but he cannot, at this time, recall saying anything about who was financing or working for the re-election of THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO. He said he knows JOHN CATANEO was interested in politics at that time, but whether he contributed to any campaign of D'ALESSANDRO is not known to him. He said he does not know anything concerning the political affairs of D'ALESSANDRO at this time and he has never heard anything derogatory about him.

BA 161-110

TGR:kss

In 1944, Mr. DWIGHT L. HOLMES, Manager, Baltimore Branch of the Better Business Bureau, furnished allegations to the Baltimore Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that THOMAS D'ALESANDRO, Representative from the Third Congressional District of Maryland, had used his influence with the Baltimore Police Department and local magistrates to hinder investigation and prosecution of violations of the law. Mr. HOLMES stated that one of these cases involved WILLIAM J. ORSOTTI, a "shady" doctor of physiotherapy, who had promoted a number of fraudulent schemes throughout the country. ORSOTTI was active in the United Entertainment Committee Benefit Fund, a fund promoted by ORSOTTI ostensibly for the benefit of men and women in the armed services, but actually for his own gain.

Through efforts of Mr. HOLMES, ORSOTTI's activities were referred to the Baltimore Police Department for investigation. A sergeant of that Department had told HOLMES that ORSOTTI had refused to come in for questioning and that nothing further could be done because ORSOTTI had shown his connection with a prominent man in Baltimore. HOLMES said that when he pressed the sergeant for the identity of this person, the sergeant "indicated" that it was Mr. D'ALESANDRO. No specific information on the nature of ORSOTTI's alleged connection with D'ALESANDRO was given.

At the same time, Mr. HOLMES said he was also interested in the enforcement of laws dealing with weight shortages of coal delivered by Baltimore coal dealers. Judge HENRY B. MANN, Magistrate at Northeastern Police Station, had told Mr. HOLMES that he was receiving pressure from WILLIE and TOMMIE, which Mr. HOLMES understood to mean WILLIAM CURRAN and THOMAS D'ALESANDRO, to "lay off" a particular defendant before him due to the fact that he was a good contributor to their political fund. Mr. HOLMES did not further identify this case.

Mr. HOLMES stated he had been advised by different unnamed members of the Baltimore Police Department that the various coal dealers in eastern Baltimore were heavy contributors to the political fund of D'ALESANDRO. HOLMES attributed the failure of the Police Department to investigate violations of the Coal Ordinance to the coal dealers' influence with D'ALESSANDRO and the latter's influence with the Police Department.

TGR:kss

On February 8, 1961, [redacted]
[redacted] Better Business Bureau, 200 W. Saratoga Street, Baltimore, Maryland, advised Special Agent J. STANLEY ROTZ that DWIGHT L. HOLMES, former manager of the Better Business Bureau, had died about eight years ago. [redacted] explained that he, himself, has been general manager of this organization for the past nine years, but that he had never heard of any connection between THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO, JR. and WILLIAM J. ORSOTTI, or Baltimore coal dealers.

b6

[redacted] searched the several Better Business Bureau files pertaining to WILLIAM J. ORSOTTI and the Baltimore coal dealers in the 1943 to 1944 period, but was unable to find any sort of reference to Mr. D'ALESSANDRO.

In 1945, Captain JOHN R. ROLLMAN, Western District, Baltimore Police Department, Baltimore, Maryland, furnished information to the Baltimore Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation concerning one CHARLES F. CAMMARATA, who until a short time previously had operated a tavern at 641 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Maryland. Captain ROLLMAN commented that CAMMARATA had gotten away with all sorts of criminal activities in the Western District due to the protection of Maryland United States Representative THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO. CAMMARATA was alleged to be gambling in various crap and card games in Baltimore. No further details of the alleged protection of Mr. D'ALESSANDRO were furnished.

On February 8, 1961, [redacted]
[redacted] Baltimore Police Department, Baltimore, Maryland, advised Special Agent J. STANLEY ROTZ that former Captain JOHN R. ROLLMAN of the Western District had died on June 1, 1954.

CAMMARATA's current whereabouts are unknown.

"The Morning Sun," Baltimore newspaper, issue for December 12, 1953, carried an article stating that political storms have been blowing around JAMES H. POLLACK during the twenty-five years he has been a factor in the affairs of the Democrats and sometimes of the Republicans, too. He is the acknowledged boss of the Fourth District. The same news article stated POLLACK was born October 21, 1899 in Baltimore, Maryland. The news item reflected he has in the past been an insurance broker, real estate operator, theater owner and a one-time pugilist. During his early childhood, according to the news item, he and TOMMIE D'ALESSANDRO, Mayor of Baltimore, allegedly sold newspapers together. The items states these two have been friends ever since except for a few short-lived political spats.

Mrs. WILLIAM H. BAUERNSCHMIDT on April 8, 1947, furnished information to the Baltimore Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, that she had recently been told by a minor politician in Baltimore, whose name she could not recall, but whom she stated is a reliable informant, that THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO had an [redacted]

In April, 1947, Mrs. BAUERNSCHMIDT advised the Baltimore Office of the FBI that she had received an anonymous telephone call furnishing her the same information as that reported by her on April 8, 1947.

BA 161-110

TGR:kss

Mrs. BAUERNSCHMIDT, in a radio talk on the night before the primary (April 1, 1947), pointed out that she was opposed to D'ALESSANDRO because of his close relationship with JAMES H. POLLACK. Mrs. BAUERNSCHMIDT stated that POLLACK has a criminal record consisting of fifty-four appearances in court and eighteen convictions. Mrs. BAUERNSCHMIDT subsequently advised that she had obtained information in regard to POLLACK's criminal record from a local paper known as "The Observer," for January 13, 1934, which contained a copy of POLLACK's criminal record. "The Observer" is no longer published in the City of Baltimore.

In her radio talk mentioned above, Mrs. BAUERNSCHMIDT also pointed out that POLLACK had been denied a license to operate a liquor distillery by the Federal Government and this denial was affirmed by the Superior Court of Appeals in this city, which pointed out that a man with such an extensive criminal record was not entitled to receive such a license.

A review of the copy of "The Observer," referred to by Mrs. BAUERNSCHMIDT in regard to the criminal record of POLLACK, by the Baltimore Office of the FBI reflects that from January 1, 1921, to September 8, 1933, POLLACK was charged with whiskey violations on four occasions and received no convictions. He was charged on three occasions with carrying deadly weapons with no convictions. He was charged with failure to answer a summons on one occasion with no conviction. He was charged with being disorderly on five occasions and received one minimum fine on one of these occasions. He was charged with thirty-six violations of traffic laws for which he was convicted ten times, receiving fines of from $1.00 to $5.00. Among these traffic violations, he was charged four times within a period of a little over a month with driving without one headlight and charges were dismissed on each occasion. On another occasion, he was charged with reckless driving four times within a month with no convictions on any of these charges. A murder charge against POLLACK was made on August 15, 1921, which grew out of the killing of one HUGO CAPLAN in a public garage on Fayette Street, when he was shot down by a gang of bootleggers. The State, according to the record, kept the case on the docket for eighteen months and the case was set for trial twice, but was never tried. POLLACK spent forty-one days in jail awaiting this trial, but was released on $3,000.00 bond after his $10,000.00 bail was reduced by the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City. The only other occasion on which POLLACK served time was on a conviction of assault when he received a sentence and served thirty days in jail on May 10, 1923. He was also charged on March 13, 1923, with assault and threatening to shoot a police officer, but was found not guilty. He has also been charged on five other occasions with assault and striking and on four occasions with assault with intent to rob, receiving out of these nine cases three convictions.

TGR:kss

The above information was obtained from a review of "The Observer", a paper no longer printed, and not from an actual review of police records.

Title: THOMAS D'ALE SANDRO, JR.

Character: SPECIAL INQUIRY

Synopsis: Files of the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation, Boston, Mass. disclosed that the firm of D'Alesandro-McCullough Insurance Co. of Baltimore, Md. had agreements with the Employers Fire Insurance Co. and the American Employers Insurance Co. to act as their agents from 1941 to 1947, at which time these agreements were cancelled. New agreements were written in 1950 and were again cancelled in 1954 for business reasons. Surety Bond Division of Employers Liability Assurance Corporation gave $1,000 Non-Resident Insurance Brokers Bond on behalf of the firm of D'Alesandro-McCullough on 4/30/53, which was effective for one year only. Employers also obligated under a current $2,500 surety bond in the name of THOMAS D'ALE SANDRO, JR., which bond runs to the State of Maryland to license D'ALE SANDRO as an insurance broker. This bond was first written in 1957 and has been renewed continually, the expiration date of the current one being 4/61. No complaints have been registered concerning D'ALE SANDRO with the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation at Boston.

- RUC -

BS 161-141

DETAILS:

[redacted] Surety Bond Division, Employers Liability Assurance Corporation, Ltd., 110 Milk Street, Boston, Massachusetts, advised that the American Employers Insurance Company is a Massachusetts corporation since 1923, and the Employers Fire Insurance Company is also a separate Massachusetts corporation since 1921. Both of these corporations are owned by the Employers Group Associates, which is a Massachusetts Voluntary Trust. [redacted] explained that both the American Employers Insurance Company and the Employers Fire Insurance Company are under common management.

b7C

[redacted] stated that a review of D'ALESSANDRO's file showed that a separate agreement was entered into on January 17, 1941 between the Employers Fire Insurance Company and the D'Alesandro-McCullough Insurance Company, Baltimore, Maryland, whereby the latter agency would write insurance as agents for the Employers Fire Insurance Company. This agreement was continued from year to year, up to 1947 when the agreement was cancelled. Another agreement was entered into between the parties in 1950 which was finally cancelled on May 25, 1954.

An agreement was likewise entered into on January 23, 1941 between the American Employers Insurance Company and the firm of D'Alesandro-McCullough Insurance Company, and this agreement was continued until 1947 when it was cancelled. Agreements were renewed between the parties in 1950 and finally cancelled again in 1954.

[redacted] explained that the reason the Employers cancelled their agreements with D'Alesandro's firm was because of poor distribution of business by the latter agency. [redacted] stated that at the present time D'ALESSANDRO has no agreement to act as agent for any of the Employers insurance companies.

b7C

Concerning surety bonds filed by this company on D'ALESSANDRO's behalf, [redacted] stated that on April 30, 1953 the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation posted a $1,000 bond payable to the Superintendent of Insurance of the District of Columbia. This was a Non-Resident Insurance Brokers Bond which was effective for one year only on behalf of the D'Alesandro-McCullough Insurance Company.

b6
b7C

BS 161-141

[] also explained that the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation executed a $2,500 surety bond in the name of THOMAS D'ALE SANDRO, JR. running to the State of Maryland to license D'ALE SANDRO as an insurance broker. This surety bond became effective May 1, 1957 and is still in effect, the expiration date being April, 1961.

b7C

During the effective periods covered by these surety bonds [] stated that the Employers Liability Assurance Corporation was never requested to pay out any money for defaults on behalf of D'ALE SANDRO, nor have there ever been any complaints registered with this company concerning the D'Alesandro-McCullough Insurance Company.

b6

[] Employers Liability Assurance Corporation, Ltd., Boston, advised on February 14, 1961 that at the time of the termination of the insurance agreements between the Employers insurance companies and the D'Alesandro-McCullough Insurance Company in 1954, the latter agency owed the Employers insurance companies no money.

Re Bureau teletype to Baltimore 2/14/61.

The following is submitted concerning Mrs. MARIE BAUERNSCHMIDT, who furnished information a number of years ago to several Agents of the Baltimore Office. This information was compiled by SA [redacted] who had some contact with Mrs. BAUERNSCHMIDT.

In this connection it is to be noted that Mrs. BAUERNSCHMIDT had the general reputation in the community of being interested in keeping corrupt influences out of government and particularly with keeping improper political influences out of the public school system. She frequently injected herself into the political life of the community by making radio addresses on the eves of major elections in the state but had no personal desires for any elective or appointive office of any sort. She was the widow of a prominent Baltimore brewer and is believed to have had a substantial estate left her upon his death.

Concerning the information furnished by Mrs. BAUERNSCHMIDT to the writer (SA [redacted]) it is not recalled that any of it was of a type that indicated a Bureau violation that would warrant verification of the facts in question and for that reason no such verification or corroboratory evidence was obtained concerning such matters that she furnished on a voluntary basis. The information that she furnished to the writer (SA [redacted]) was exclusively along GIIF lines. She did not disclose the sources of her information at any time.

Regarding Bureau teletype to Bureau February 15, 1961, advising Baltimore report contains comments from a number of individuals suggesting that D'ALESDANDRO had been target of much criticism, the Bureau is advised that on February 16, 1961, Mr. JOHN COPPAGE, Deputy Insurance Commissioner, and DAVID MANDEL, Executive Secretary to U. FRIEDEL (both mentioned in Baltimore report), stated the criticism they referred to was actually criticism of various measures and ordinances adopted or rejected during appointee's tenure in the Mayor's Office. According to COPPAGE and MANDEL, this criticism came from persons who disagreed with the Mayor's position.

DETAILS: AT BALTIMORE, MARYLANDReview of Court Records:

On February 15, 1961, a review of the records of the Office of the Clerk of Court, Criminal Court, Baltimore City Courthouse, reflected the following information concerning FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT D'ALESSANDRO, 245 Albemarle Street, Baltimore:

Page 203 of the Criminal Court of Baltimore Indictment Docket, May Term 1953, records Indictment #3240 was filed on August 14, 1953 against the above named person charging rape, etc. The true bill returned on this date charged FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT D'ALESSANDRO on July 28, 1953, in and upon one [redacted] violently and feloniously did make an assault upon her, the said [redacted] then and there forcibly and against her will, feloniously did ravish and carnally know contrary to the Act of the Assembly in such case made and provided and against the peace, government and dignity of the state. Said [] was at the time under [] years of age.

b7C

At arraignment of D'ALESSANDRO on October 7, 1953, he entered a plea of not guilty and prayed a jury trial. The attorney for D'ALESSANDRO, JOSEPH SHERBOW, requested that his client be given an early trial in this matter in view of the fact that he was the son of the Mayor of Baltimore, and because of the publicity given to the case in the papers, and on the radio and television. Mr. SHERBOW argued that the Office of the State's Attorney had set trial for several of the other youths involved, prior to the time set for the trial of his client. He argued that his client's trial would be affected by the outcome of the earlier trial because of the fact he was the Mayor's son.

Chief Judge W. CONWELL SMITH, now deceased, granted the motion of Mr. SHERBOW to hold D'ALESSANDRO's trial first.

The trial was held in Criminal Court, Part Three, also referred to as Youth Court, before Judge W. CONWELL SMITH. No transcript of the trial was available as the verdict in the case was not appealed and the practice in Baltimore is that the notes of the court stenographer are not transcribed if no further hearing is necessary.

It was noted that on November 5, 1953, Defense Attorney JOSEPH SHERBOW made a Motion for Acquittal and for a directed verdict of not guilty at the conclusion of the entire case, as he pointed out the evidence in the case shows that [] and that these facts create such a reasonable doubt as to defendants guilt that the court must direct the jury to bring a verdict of acquittal and their verdict on each count must be not guilty. He argued that under Maryland Law in order for there to be Carnal Knowledge, there must be an actual penetration of the woman by the man, and that if there is the slightest doubt in the mind of any one of the jurors, that doubt has to be resolved in favor of the defendant, no matter how slight the doubt. The motion was denied by the court and the case was given to the jury.

On November 5, 1953, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty as to D'ALESDANDRO. ? THE OTHERS

Page 209 of the Criminal Court of Baltimore, Indictment Docket September Term, 1953, records that Indictment #4923 was returned by the Grand Jury on December 11, 1953 charging FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT D'ALESDANDRO with Perjury. The indictment filed on December 18, 1953 charged D'ALESDANDRO unlawfully committed perjury by falsely swearing to matters being then and there material and by giving testimony then and there wilfully and corruptly false in said city of Baltimore, State of Maryland on or about the fourth day of November, 1953. A warrant was issued the same day and bail in the amount of $2,500.00 was furnished by PHILIP BERMAN's Sons, Inc.

The indictment in this case resulted from instructions given by Judge W. CONWELL SMITH to the State's Attorney that he should call attention of the Grand Jury to statements made by D'ALESDANDRO in his trial of November, 1953, and the conflicting testimony offered by the other defendants in the series of morals trials following the D'ALESDANDRO trial.

There followed a series of motions by the Defense Attorney, JOSEPH SHERBOW, and on March 15, 1954 Judge S. RALPH WARNKEN ordered a change of venue and further that the record of the proceedings be transmitted to the Circuit Court for Wicomico County for trial. This followed a lengthy motion by Mr. SHERBOW during which he cited the large amount of publicity given to the series of morals cases in Baltimore City on television, radio and in the newspapers. He presented to the court a Survey of Public Opinion in Baltimore City and in Wicomico County prepared by the Sidney Hollander Associates, which indicated the public feeling concerning D'ALESDANDRO and the other defendants at that time.

On February 16, 1961, [redacted] Wicomico County Courthouse, Salisbury, Maryland, advised SA [redacted] that Page 79 of the Index to Criminal Record, Volume I, Wicomico County, reflects FRANKLIN R. D'ALESDANDRO, indicted for Perjury, was found not guilty.

Case #943, Liber J.W.S. No. 3, folio 417, pertains to the above matter, The State of Maryland vs FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT D'ALESDANDRO. The Docket noted the case was removed from the Criminal Court of Baltimore and on March 22, 1954 certified copy of docket entries from Criminal Court of Baltimore was filed.

On February 16, 1961, MR. JAMES P. LAZZATI, 3901 Loch Raven Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland, advised that he has known THOMAS D'ALESANDRO and members of his family since 1947. MR. LAZZATI served as the Executive Director of the Maryland Veterans Housing Commission for Baltimore City from 1947 to 1950 and as the personal secretary to Mayor D'ALESANDRO from 1950 to the end of 1952. MR. LAZZATI explained that as MR. D'ALESANDRO's personal secretary he saw him almost daily both in a professional and in a social capacity. Since 1953 he has consulted with him frequently and today enjoys a warm and personal relationship with all members of the D'ALESANDRO family.

With reference to newspaper stories that MRS. D'ALESSANDRO borrowed money from MR. DOMINIC PIRACCI, a Baltimore contractor, MR. LAZZATI stated that he was aware that MRS. PIRACCI for the purpose of promoting a business venture involving a beauty lotion, which business was never successful. MR. LAZZATI continued that in so far as he knows this was strictly a business transaction between MRS. D'ALESSANDRO and MR. PIRACCI and in no way involved Mayor D'ALESSANDRO.

MR. LAZZATI further stated that he has the highest regard for THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO and his wife NANCY. He knows the former Mayor to be a man of integrity, a devoted family man and a devoted public servant. MR. LAZZATI stated that during his association with MR. D'ALESSANDRO nothing has ever come to his attention which he feels would preclude the former Mayor from serving in any capacity for which he is qualified. MR. RICHARD A. LIDINSKY, Room 635, United States Post Office Building, who was executive secretary to appointee from November, 1946 to May, 1959, on February 16, 1961 advised as follows:

From late 1946 until May, 1959, LIDINSKY informed he had almost daily contact with the Mayor and his wife. Mr. LIDINSKY informed that during the period of time he was with the Mayor (1946-1959) he is certain that appointee and his wife were never involved in any marital difficulty and that during the period 1946-1959, the appointee and his wife never considered separating and as far as he knows never separated and intentionally lived apart. Mr. LIDINSKY stated it is not unlikely appointee and his wife had the ordinary marital differences of husband and wife, but these differences never reached the point where a separation was contemplated. Mr. LIDINSKY advised that [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] One of the problems appointee had in about 1953, according to LIDINSKY, was the city-wide strike of municipal garbage and trash removal employees and, according to LIDINSKY, the Mayor opposed this strike violently and issued an ultimatum to workers to return to work because there was, in the Mayor's view, a serious health problem involved. According to LIDINSKY, as a safety measure city police were assigned to guard the Mayor and the Mayor's residence. Mr. LIDINSKY said he believes this strike lasted about a week and, according to LIDINSKY, although the Mayor was not too

Investigation of D'Alessandro, former United States Congressman and Mayor of Baltimore, requested by Kennedy Administration on 2/3/61. By letter dated 1/30/61, the White House was furnished results of a name check concerning D'Alessandro containing allegations of connections with several front organizations: association with Baltimore criminal element; and [redacted]

There was [redacted] and his son, Franklin Roosevelt D'Alessandro, had been arrested for rape. The White House was advised that it was not possible to comment concerning the accuracy or reliability of this information.

Mr. Kenneth O'Donnell, Special Assistant to the President, subsequently requested a Special Inquiry investigation, but instructed that if substantial derogatory information was developed, we should report this and discontinue.

Investigation is not complete. D'Alessandro has been connected with the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, the National Council for American-Soviet Friendship, and the International Workers Order in that he reportedly had spoken at meetings or was listed as one of a large group of sponsors of these organizations. However, an article in the "Baltimore Sun," newspaper dated March, 1945, indicated that D'Alessandro announced that he would not attend a meeting (on problems of White Collar and Fixed Income Workers) because some of the persons listed as sponsors of the meeting "are politically known as communist sympathizers and speakers." All available living sources of the allegations concerning Mr. D'Alessandro were recontacted. They stated that the statements they had previously furnished were based on hearsay and rumor and were unable to recall the sources of the original allegations. D'Alessandro's son, Franklin Roosevelt D'Alessandro, was one of a number of individuals arrested on a rape charge in 1953. He entered a plea of not guilty. He was subsequently tried for rape and perjury and found not guilty.

Over 100 persons were interviewed concerning D'Alessandro and his relatives and commented favorably; however, United States Senator John Marshall Butler, Maryland, stated that he would hesitate to recommend D'Alessandro unqualifiedly without first knowing the position for which he is being considered, and Leon H. A. Pierson, United States Attorney, stated he would be hesitant in recommending D'Alessandro for an office where he would be in a position to award contracts without first having the approval of another supervisor.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the attached summary and cover letter be delivered to Mr. O'Donnell at the White House. The White House has been advised that additional investigation is being conducted concerning Mr. D'Alessandro.

Credit and Arrest Checks

Information has been received from appropriate credit reporting agencies and law enforcement agencies indicating that their files contain either no record or no pertinent information concerning Mr. D'Alesandro with the following exceptions:

The files of the Baltimore, Maryland, Police Department indicate that Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro was one of several individuals arrested on August 5, 1953, on a rape complaint.

The files of the Office of the Clerk of Court, Criminal Court, Baltimore City Courthouse, indicate that a true bill was returned on August 14, 1953, charging Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro with the crime of rape of a fourteen-year old girl. Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro entered a plea of not guilty and through his attorney requested a jury trial. The attorney, by motion, requested that his client be given an early trial in view of the fact that he was the son of the Mayor of Baltimore and because of the publicity given to the case in the newspapers, on the radio and on television. This motion was granted. On November 5, 1953, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

On December 11, 1953, Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro was indicted for perjury, charging that he unlawfully committed perjury by falsely swearing to matters then and there being material and by giving testimony which was willfully and corruptly false. This indictment resulted from instructions given by Judge W. Conwell Smith (now deceased) that the Grand Jury should consider statements made by

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro in his trial of November, 1953, and the conflicting testimony of others. Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro's attorney then filed a motion citing the large amount of publicity involved and requested that the trial be conducted in another county. The files of the Wicomico County Courthouse, Salisbury, Maryland, indicate that Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro was found not guilty of perjury on May 21, 1954.

An informant who has furnished reliable information in the past advised that he recalled that Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro and a number of other young individuals were arrested in 1953 on a rape charge. He further recalled that Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro was found not guilty; however, some of the other defendants were found guilty. The informant stated that it was the consensus of opinion among persons connected with law and law enforcement in Maryland that Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro was found not guilty because his case was handled in brilliant fashion by one of Maryland's outstanding attorneys. The informant advised that after the trial there were rumors that "some sort of pressure had been exerted" to acquit Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro. However, the informant stated he had no knowledge of such pressure being exerted. The informant recalled a conversation that he had had with one of the State's Attorneys who prosecuted Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro. According to the informant, the attorney told him at that time that he did not believe there had been "a fix."

A letterhead of the "National 'Americans All' Week," October 21 through October 28, 1941, under the auspices of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born listed Congressman Thomas D'Alesandro, Maryland, as one of the sponsors of this observance. It was reported that this observance was held in honor of the contributions made by foreign born individuals to the building of America and their important role in national defense.

The American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

An undated mimeographed press release of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, 79 Fifth Avenue, New York City, announced the Sixth National Conference of that organization to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, from May 9 to May 10, 1942. This release listed Congressman Thomas D'Alesandro as one of a large group of sponsors of this national conference.

A confidential source^{} who has furnished reliable information in the past advised that the climax of the American-Soviet Friendship Week was a rally held at the Lyric Theater in Baltimore, Maryland, on November 18, 1943, under the auspices of the Baltimore Chapter of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Incorporated. The source advised that present on the stage on the occasion of this rally were Baltimore Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, United States Senator George L. Radcliffe and Congressmen Daniel Ellison and Thomas D'Alesandro.

The National Council of American-Soviet Friendship has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The "Baltimore Sun," newspaper, dated August 25, 1944, contained an item which reflected that a celebration sponsored by the Garibaldi American Fraternal Society, International Workers Order, Incorporated, was scheduled to be held in the Finnish Hall, 703 South Ponca Street, Baltimore, Maryland. One of the speakers at the affair was indicated to be Representative Thomas D'Alesandro.

The International Workers Order has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

An informant^{} who has furnished reliable information in the past advised that on March 31, 1939, Lodges 2502 and 2517 of the International Workers Order scheduled a testimonial dinner for Honorable Thomas D'Alessandro, Jr., at the Southern Hotel, Baltimore, Maryland.

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

In September, 1944, an informant^{*} who has furnished reliable information in the past, who was associated with the Provisional Committee of White Collar and Fixed Income Workers, made available a mimeographed letter bearing the letterhead "Provisional Committee of White Collar and Fixed Income Workers, Post Office Box 23, Baltimore 3, Maryland." This letter was dated August 19, 1944, and stated in part, "Plans are well under way for the White Collar Conference, scheduled for the latter part of September. We hope to have received our statement of purpose and program and that you are prepared to give favorable consideration to our request for your sponsorship." The letter also listed sixteen persons who were said to be among those who had generously given their endorsement and the name of "Hon. Thos. D'Alesandro, Jr.," appeared on the list of names.

Concerning the above-mentioned organization, during 1948 a confidential source advised that the stated purpose of the White Collar and Provisional Council of Maryland, also known as the Provisional Committee of White Collar and Fixed Income Workers, White Collar Conference, which existed during the period June, 1944, to April, 1946, was the advocacy of legislative proposals to remedy the economic plight of fixed income workers, job security, re-employment, rights of veterans and the employment of women and Negroes by professionals and Government services after the war. The source advised that names of prominent legislators, clergymen, trade union leaders, social workers and teachers in Maryland were listed as sponsors. However, the majority of the members of the planning committee of the organizations, which guide its policies and activities, have been identified by another confidential source who was familiar with certain phases of communist activity in the Baltimore area as members of District 4 of the Communist Party or the Communist Political Association of Maryland and Washington, D. C.

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

The Communist Party, U.S.A., and the Communist Political Association have been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The "Baltimore Sun," newspaper, on March 10, 1945, contained a story bearing the heading "3 Congressmen Shun Gathering." This news story reflected that, "Representatives (Thomas) D'Alesandro, (George H.) Fallon and (H. Street) Baldwin, yesterday said they would not attend a meeting tomorrow of which they have been announced as sponsors because the political views of certain other persons listed as sponsors 'are absolutely abhorrent' to them."

"The meeting and afternoon and evening conference on problems of White Collar and Fixed Income Workers will be held in the YWCA."

The article went on to state that Representative D'Alesandro, who also spoke for Representatives Fallon and Baldwin, announced in a radio address in Washington, D. C., that the three Congressmen would not attend the meeting. He said that some of the persons listed as sponsors of the meeting "are politically known as communist sympathizers and speakers."

In 1944 Dwight L. Holmes, Manager, Baltimore Branch of the Better Business Bureau, advised that William Curran, reputed Democratic Boss in that city, and Thomas D'Alesandro, the United States Congressman from Maryland's Third Congressional District, had used their influence with the Baltimore Police Department and local magistrates to hinder investigation and prosecution of crimes. He alleged that in one case, William J. Orsotti, promoter of fraudulent schemes throughout the United States, had initiated activities in Baltimore, Maryland. He alleged that investigation of Orsotti by the local police department was obstructed by Mr. D'Alesandro. He also alleged that numerous weight shortages in Baltimore coal deliveries in violation of the Coal Ordinance were not prosecuted because of the influence of various coal dealers in East Baltimore who were said to be heavy contributors to Mr. D'Alesandro's political fund.

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

Mr. Edwin M. Lockard, General Manager, Better Business Bureau, Baltimore, Maryland, during the current investigation advised that Dwight L. Holmes is now deceased. Mr. Lockard stated that he was unable to find any reference to Mr. D'Alesandro in the files of the Better Business Bureau.

In 1945 John R. Rollman, Captain, Western District, Baltimore Police Department, Baltimore, Maryland, stated that Charles F. Cammarata, who until a short time previously had operated a tavern in Baltimore, Maryland, had "gotten away with all sorts of criminal activities" in the Western District due to the protection of Maryland United States Representative Thomas D'Alesandro. Captain Rollman stated that Cammarata was alleged to be "gambling in various crap and card games in Baltimore."

Captain Rollman is now deceased.

In 1946 Isadore Deck, Baltimore, Maryland, advised that Abe Berman, who was engaged in the insurance business and who maintained an office in the building in which Mr. D'Alesandro also maintained an office, was the owner of a building in which Bunny Ligner "operated his crap game." Mr. Deck stated that Mr. Berman, because of his close connection with Mr. D'Alesandro, was able "to act as a fixer for Bunny Ligner and others."

Mr. Isadore Deck advised during the current investigation that he did not have any information of a firsthand nature to justify the statement that Mr. D'Alesandro had used his influence with the police or anyone else in authority to assist the illegal operations of Bunny Ligner and that his previous statements were merely based on rumor and were conclusions as a result of the fact that Mr. D'Alesandro and Mr. Berman maintained offices in the same building. Mr. Deck stated that he could furnish no information to justify the inference that Mr. D'Alesandro had engaged in any improper activity on behalf of Mr. Abe Berman or any other person.

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

In 1947 Mrs. William H. Bauernschmidt, Baltimore, Maryland, advised that she had been told by a minor politician, whose name she could not recall but whom she described as reliable, that Thomas D'Alesandro had an [redacted] of Baltimore.

He stated that he could not recall who gave him this information or whether or not there was any truth to the allegations. He further explained that he was never well acquainted with any of the men he had mentioned and had no personal knowledge of their affairs.

During the interview of John Marshall Butler in this matter, Butler stated he would hesitate to recommend the appointee until he knew the position for which he was being considered. You should ascertain further particulars concerning this qualified endorsement. It should be ascertained whether Senator Butler's hesitancy is based on a question of the appointee's ability or character traits with specific explanations for whatever reason is advanced.

Allegations have been made that undesirable elements in Baltimore contributed to D'Alessandro's campaign as a result of which patronages accrued to them. Since D'Alessandro has served as a Congressman, a check should be made with the Clerk of the House of Representatives for any accounting of contributions to D'Alessandro's campaign fund.

On the same/ of this report there is information furnished by John H. Coppage, Deputy Insurance Commissioner. Coppage stated that the appointee was subject to criticism and accused of many dealings. Coppage believed this to be the voice of political opposition. In your letter of 2-18-61, the above statement of Coppage is explained as referring to various measures and ordinances adopted or rejected during the appointee's tenure in office.

On page 28 of the report David Mandel, Executive Secretary to Congressman Samuel N. Friedel, stated that the appointee, as a result of being a public figure, had been the target of much criticism. or derogatory concerning D'Alessandro other than the usual charges and counter charges one might expect during the heat of a political campaign.

Specific details should be secured concerning the allegations made by the five persons mentioned above. In this regard it should be ascertained whether the charges referred to in any way relate to the appointee's association with undesirable elements. If such information is secured, you should ascertain the identities of these associates and the degree of association. Unverified rumors have been received that D'Alessandro had used his political office to show favoritism towards some of his acquaintances of questionable background. You should ascertain whether any of the above persons were alluding to this practice and if so the identities of such individuals referred to and specific instances of such favoritism. You should also ascertain whether any of the charges made related to pressures the appointee allegedly may have exerted on the Police Department, courts, fixes for which he may have been responsible, or any indication that he used his position to protect the gambling element. If any answer to the above questions, which are not all inclusive, is in the affirmative you should ascertain who made such charges and that source should be interviewed provided no reason exists for not conducting such an interview.

Newspaper morgues should be thoroughly reviewed for any information pertinent to this investigation. If this review discloses pertinent information and the sources of the information can be identified, they should be interviewed provided no reasons exist precluding such interviews. Pertinent news articles should either be incorporated in the supplemental report to be submitted by you or furnished as exhibits to the report.

During the review of newspaper morgues you should be alert for any additional pertinent information concerning the Piracci case and the rape and perjury cases of Franklin Roosevelt D'Alessandro.

In the interview of U. S. Attorney Leon H. A. Pierson set forth on page 28 of the report it is stated that Pierson would hesitate to recommend the appointee to an office where he would be in a position to award contracts unless such contracts were approved by a superior. The basis for Mr. Pierson's qualified statement should be ascertained.

Page 43 of the report states that John Cataneo had furnished large sums of money to the appointee's campaign fund and did not hesitate to state that in the event D'Alessandro was elected he would receive the sanitation contracts for the city. You should ascertain if in fact such contracts were awarded to Cataneo. Since the appointee has held both state and local offices you should ascertain whether there is any accounting files maintained for campaign contributions. If such a record is located and the identities of the contributors is pertinent to this investigation they should be appropriately characterized.

Airtel to Baltimore

Page 45 of the report contains information furnished in 1944 by Mr. Dwight L. Holmes, now deceased, concerning his alleged referral of a matter to the Baltimore Police Department for investigation. According to Holmes, D'Alessandro's influence had successfully prevented investigation. Page 15 of your memorandum dated 10-28-44, captioned "Semiannual Crime Survey within the Baltimore Field Division," (your file 62-319) Bureau file 62-75147-3-3, in referring to the allegation made by Holmes discloses that Holmes had discussed his allegation with Sergeant Philip Germack of the Baltimore Police Department. Files of the Baltimore Police Department should be reviewed for any information furnished by Holmes and the disposition of such information. If Sergeant Germack is available he should be interviewed in this matter.

Page 46 of the report contains information furnished in 1945 by Captain John R. Rollman, Western District, Baltimore Police Department, now deceased, concerning protection afforded Charles F. Cammarata by D'Alessandro. If feasible, the Police Department files should be checked regarding Cammarata for any information furnished by Rollman.

Page 47 of the report contains information from "The Morning Sun" re the friendship between the appointee and James H. Pollack. In addition to information on pages 48 and 49 regarding Pollack's criminal record, Police Department files should be checked for a current record of him.

The Administration is cognizant of the various allegations appearing in your Crime Survey regarding D'Alessandro's association with some of the undesirable elements in Baltimore and the allegation of patronage and protection afforded them. You should be alert to determine the source of such allegations in an attempt to resolve their veracity. Political opponents of D'Alessandro should be considered as excellent sources in this regard.

You should afford the above immediate and continuous attention and expedite the submission of a supplemental report in this matter. The report should be submitted by 3-16-61. This matter should be assigned to experienced Agents who should utilize the necessary discretion and sound judgment.

Character: SPECIAL INQUIRY

Synopsis:

Re-interviews with DACKSON, COPPAGE, MANDEL, PRICE, Jr., OTENASEK, and PIERSON set out. Baltimore City Police Department record on one JAMES H. POLLACK set out. Dr. CLARENCE D. LONG, Johns Hopkins University, Research Economist, who opposed appointee in Senatorial primary in Maryland in 1958, says he did considerable research into appointee's background and unable to "get anything" that would reflect on character, integrity or honesty of appointee.

DETAILS: AT BALTIMORE, MARYLAND

MISCELLANEOUS INTERVIEWS

The following inquiry was conducted by SA

On March 10, 1961, Mr. DAVID MANDEL, Executive Secretary to U. S. Congressman SAMUEL N. FRIEDEL, advised he has never known appointee to associate with undesirable persons at any time. He noted appointee had served in public office for many years, and during that time, Mr. MANDEL thought appointee had conducted himself in a very proper manner for a public official. He had no knowledge of appointee exerting pressure on the Police Department, being responsible for any court fixes, or being in any way associated with the gambling element.

Mr. MANDEL said he has never known appointee to have used any of his public offices to appoint any undesirable person to any position. Rather, he thought appointee had appointed those persons who he thought were the best qualified for a position. And he has never heard or known of the appointee to have used his political office to show favoritism to people of questionable background. Mr. MANDEL commented it was his personal opinion that appointee had served the people of Baltimore well during his tenure in public office and he highly recommended him for a position of trust and confidence.

On March 10, 1961, Mr. W. E. DACKSON, License Bureau, Maryland State Insurance Department, advised he has never heard or known of the appointee's association with undesirable persons or of any such person being appointed to a position by the appointee. He said appointee had never, to his knowledge, used his position in public office to show favoritism to persons of questionable background, nor did he have any information which would indicate appointee had used his position to exert pressure on the Police Department or courts of the city in favor of any persons of undesirable character or reputation. He considered appointee to have been too popular a public figure during his tenure in public office to risk association with such people. Mr. DACKSON said he could furnish no derogatory information concerning appointee, and he recommended him for a position of trust and confidence.

On March 13, 1961, Mr. JOHN H. COPPAGE, Deputy Insurance Commissioner, Maryland State Insurance Department, advised he has never known or heard anything which would indicate appointee has associated with undesirable people or used his position in public office to appoint any such person to a position of influence. He did not know of any occasion when appointee had used his position to show favoritism to people of questionable background, either through the Police Department or through any pressure exerted upon any courts. Mr. COPPAGE noted appointee had been in public office for such a long period of time that if he had been associated with undesirable persons, such association would have been detrimental to his career. Mr. COPPAGE could furnish no derogatory information as to appointee's associations or appointments while in public office.

The following inquiry was conducted by SA [REDACTED]

On March 13, 1961, Mrs. MILDRED B. OTENASEK was recontacted at her residence, 219 Northway, Baltimore, and said she knew of no specific details concerning any charges or counter-charges which she had mentioned as having been said during the heat of a political campaign. She said she did not make reference to any particular individual or action because she knew of none. She advised she knew of no undesirable associates nor any information which would reflect adversely upon him. She reiterated that she considered D'ALESANDRO to be an industrious, energetic, and capable individual, extremely patriotic and a loyal and dedicated American. She stated she would recommend him highly for any position of trust with the Federal Government.

On March 13, 1961, ARTHUR B. PRICE, JR., was recontacted at his residence at Randallstown, Maryland, and stated that the charges and counter-charges to which he referred concerning D'ALESANDRO campaigns for election were non-specific in nature and that he knew nothing derogatory or adversely reflecting upon the character and reputation of D'ALESANDRO. He stated that any charges he may have referred to were simply campaign oratory, "scuttlebut" or unsubstantiated rumors. He again stated that on the basis of his acquaintance with D'ALESANDRO he would recommend him highly for a position with the Federal Government.

The following inquiry was conducted by SA [REDACTED]:

b7c

On March 11, 1961, United States Attorney LEON H. A. PIERSON was re-interviewed concerning the information he furnished during interview of February 8, 1961. Mr. PIERSON again emphasized that his qualified statement concerning a recommendation for the appointee to an office where he would be in a position to award contracts is purely conjectural and that he possesses no specific factual information concerning any indiscretions on the part of the appointee while either in or out of public office. He said that his feeling concerning the appointee is entirely opinion and could not be backed up under any circumstances.

CIRCUIT COURT #1 AND SANITATION DEPARTMENT INQUIRY

[redacted] Circuit Court #1, Baltimore City, advised SAs [redacted] and THOMAS LEACH, JR., on March 10, 1961, that records of political campaign funds are filed in this office and retained for a period of three years after which they are destroyed. He stated that no records of local elections held prior to three years ago are still in existence.

On March 10, 1961, Baltimore Confidential Informant T-5 advised SA [redacted] that the City of Baltimore let contracts for sanitation collection and disposal up until 1938 at which time this city started its own sanitation department. He stated that the city has since handled exclusively its sanitation work with the exception of the year 1942 when a few contracts were awarded to unrecalled individuals. He stated that these contracts were terminated within the year 1942 and that the name of JOHN CATANEO is unknown to him as a contractor for the City of Baltimore. Informant advised that [redacted]

POLICE DEPARTMENT INQUIRY

The following investigation was conducted by SA J. STANLEY ROTZ:

On March 13, 1961, Lieutenant PHILIP GERMACK, Detective Bureau, Baltimore Police Department, advised that he recalled discussing the case of WILLIAM J. ORSATTI with DWIGHT L. HOLMES, Manager of the Baltimore Better Business Bureau in the 1940's, when he himself was a Sergeant in the police department. He stated that he recalled ORSATTI had claimed to be some sort of doctor and that he was conducting fund-raising campaigns for various organizations in Baltimore. ORSATTI had arranged that he would be paid a percentage of the profits from these campaigns. Questions were raised concerning ORSATTI's tactics, but as far as Lieutenant GERMACK could recall, no substantial complaint was ever received concerning him. Lieutenant GERMACK stated that he is certain that if a legitimate complaint against ORSATTI had ever been received by the police department, the department would not have withheld investigation or action for anybody, even the Governor of Maryland.

Lieutenant GERMACK stated that to his knowledge, the name of THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO was never mentioned in connection with ORSATTI. There was never any indication that outside influence of any sort, which could have come from Mr. D'ALESSANDRO, had been brought to bear in this case.

Lieutenant GERMACK advised that the only existing files relating to ORSATTI in the possession of the Baltimore Police Department are microfilmed files, bearing the numbers 215581 and 219933.

On March 13, 1961, [REDACTED] Central Records Bureau, Baltimore Police Department, made available for examination the foregoing microfilmed files. Examination of this material reflected no reference to THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO or to any outside individual, who could have been identical with Mr. D'ALESSANDRO. The files contained correspondence with the Baltimore Better Business Bureau and a letter dated February 2, 1944, to the Baltimore Police Department from WILLIAM J. ORSATTI saying that some of the Policemen had called to see him, but that he was busy with a dance which was being held at the Alcazar on February 13, 1944, by the Italian - American Goodwill Aid Society and could not come to the Police Department for an interview prior to that date. No additional information or action appeared subsequent to this time.

Lieutenant PHILIP GERMACK, Baltimore Police Department, advised that he recalled the investigations concerning coal dealers which were conducted by that department in the 1940's. He stated that he had searched, but was unable to locate any current record of these investigations. He felt that in the event there had been any allegations of influence on the police department by THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO at that time, he would have been aware of them. No such information ever came to his attention.

On March 14, 1961, [redacted] Central Records Bureau, Baltimore Police Department, made available all existing records concerning CHARLES F. CAMMARATA, formerly of 641 West Baltimore Street and 2436 West Baltimore Street. These records reflected six arrests of CAMMARATA for disorderly conduct, two for malicious destruction of property, two for assault and striking, and two for allowing female sitters in his tavern during the period 1938-1943. The records also reflected CAMMARATA had been received at the Maryland House of Correction, Jessup, Maryland, on October 8, 1951, on a six month sentence for larceny, and that he was released on February 20, 1952, at the expiration of his sentence. He was last heard from on August 20, 1952, when the Sheriff's Office at Kankakee, Illinois, informed the police department that CAMMARATA was under observation in that city.

No information appeared in any file showing any possible association or reference to THOMAS D'ALESSANDRO.

On March 14, 1961, Captain WADE POOLE, in charge of Western District, Baltimore Police Department, advised that he clearly recalled CHARLES F. CAMMARATA, who had operated a tavern at 641 West Baltimore Street in the early 1940's. Captain POOLE recalled specifically that he himself, as a rookie policeman, had been sent into CAMMARATA's tavern in 1940 to secure evidence on which CAMMARATA was arrested for allowing female sitters in his tavern. He recalled that these sitters solicited drinks from the customers and that although the customers paid for whiskey for them, their glasses contained only Coca Cola.

Captain POOLE stated that CAMMARATA was primarily a race horse tout and that he had been barred from race tracks in Maryland. Captain POOLE worked as a policeman in this area of Baltimore from 1940-48 and was well aware of CAMMARATA's activities. He said that the Western District, Baltimore Police Department, arrested CAMMARATA at every possible opportunity. On no occasion was there ever any mention of influence or connection of CAMMARATA with Mr. D'ALESDANDRO. He stated that he himself is acquainted with D'ALESDANDRO and that he is certain there was positively no connection whatsoever between D'ALESDANDRO and CAMMARATA, who was thoroughly disliked by his neighbors who were of Italian descent.

Captain POOLE stated that CAMMARATA must have left Maryland shortly after his release from the Maryland House of Correction and has not been known to have returned to Maryland since that time. Captain POOLE last saw CAMMARATA in Havana, Cuba, four or five years ago, where CAMMARATA had some connection with Clark's Tropicana Night Club. CAMMARATA reportedly owned apartment houses in Miami, Florida, and was residing in Miami.

Captain POOLE stated that he never heard Captain JOHN R. ROLLMAN, formerly in charge of Western District, now deceased, ever mention THOMAS D'ALESDANDRO as being friendly with CAMMARATA. Captain ROLLMAN had no personal association with Mr. D'ALESDANDRO and did not know him, except as a public figure.

The following record is contained in the Central Records Division, Baltimore City Police Department, for one JAMES H. POLLACK, also known as JACK POLLACK. That all arrests are applicable to JAMES H. POLLACK, date of birth - October 21, 1899, is not known since the arrests are not substantiated either by fingerprints or exact date of birth. The records were reviewed by SE [REDACTED] and IC [REDACTED] on March 13, 1961 and March 14, 1961, respectively.

INTERVIEWS WITH OPPONENTS IN POLITICS

The following inquiry was conducted by the writer:

Dr. CLARENCE D. LONG, Professor of Economics and Research Economist, Johns Hopkins University, on March 10, 1961, advised that he, LONG, ran against appointee in the U. S. Senatorial primary elections in Maryland, in the Spring of 1958. Dr. LONG said he lost out in the primary to the appointee, but that in the end appointee subsequently lost out to Senator J. GLENN BEALL in the general elections in 1958. Dr. LONG informed that appointee is a person of very little formal education, but an extremely intelligent individual, and appointee in LONG's opinion has a very penetrating mind.

Dr. LONG informed, in his opinion, the appointee has a "knack for getting things done" and putting things in motion so some action can be taken. In addition, Dr. LONG said in his opinion the appointee was the best Mayor Baltimore ever had.

Dr. LONG stated that during the period of time he opposed D'ALESSANDRO in the Senatorial primary in 1958, he, LONG, did considerable research into appointee's background, and that he reviewed news clippings and articles published regarding appointee, and that he would have used in his campaign anything he could get his hands on that would reflect on appointee's character, integrity, honesty or reputation. Dr. LONG informed he was unable to get anything tangible even in a general way in regard to the appointee. Dr. LONG stated nothing was brought to his attention during his campaign or at any other time that would reflect on the character or integrity or appointee because he, LONG, would surely have used anything that would have made the appointee an undesirable person to fill a public office.

Dr. LONG said the appointee has a reputation for being "dollar honest". Dr. LONG informed he has never heard of any association between the appointee and gangsters or persons of an unsavory character. Dr. LONG said he "knows of no fixes" or irregular or dishonest acts on the part of the appointee.

Dr. LONG pointed out that in his opinion if D'ALESSANDRO was involved or at fault in any manner in the DOMINIC PIRACCI inquiry in 1954 that Mayor J. HAROLD GRADY, present mayor of Baltimore, who was in the States Attorney's Office in 1954, would have used the information in his campaign against D'ALESSANDRO for the Mayor's Office in 1959.

Dr. LONG concluded by stating GRADY made no reference to the PIRACCI inquiry in his campaign and in his opinion D'ALESSANDRO is an honest and able public servant.

Dr. MALCOLM C. MOOS, Professor of Political Science, Johns Hopkins University and former Administrative Assistant to former President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, on March 10, 1961, said he has known appointee since about 1952 when he, MOOS, was a member of a Bipartisan group studying Baltimore City Jail conditions.

Dr. MOOS stated in his opinion D'ALESSANDRO was a good mayor and did a good job as Mayor of Baltimore City. Dr. MOOS said although he is a member of an opposite political party, he, MOOS, would put D'ALESSANDRO "up with the best of them" and in his opinion appointee is a "straightforward gentleman" and a person of good character and integrity. Dr. MOOS informed he has no information that appointee ever did anything irregular or dishonest and is of the opinion appointee would be a very good man in the field of urban renewal, which field Dr. MOOS believes appointee is being considered for in the executive branch of the Federal Government.

Judge SIMON E. SOBELOFF, Chief Judge, U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the 4th Circuit and former Solicitor General of U. S., on March 10, 1961, advised he has known appointee and followed his career for over thirty years. He stated in his opinion appointee is an honest and upright public official and a man of unquestioned loyalty. Judge SOBELOFF said he had no information that would reflect on the character or integrity of D'ALESSANDRO and that D'ALESSANDRO would be an excellent appointment for a Housing or Urban Renewal Post in the Federal Government. Judge SOBELOFF advised it was his understanding appointee was being considered for some post having to do with urban renewal or housing, and in his opinion appointee is qualified for a post in that field.

Baltimore Confidential Informant T-4, [REDACTED]

b7D

[REDACTED] Informant advised that appointee was an excellent Mayor of Baltimore and did a first-class job as Mayor. Informant said he would endorse the appointee without reservation, and that appointee in his opinion is a person of integrity. Informant volunteered information that it was his belief that over the years the appointee has accepted the support of JAMES H. POLLACK in political campaigns. Informant stated, however, that this was only an opinion and that, in fact, he knew of no specific dealings that D'ALESSANDRO may have had with POLLACK or whether D'ALESSANDRO solicited or received any political support from POLLACK. The informant stated that if D'ALESSANDRO did accept any support from POLLACK, in his opinion, this did not impute dishonesty or anything unethical on the part of the appointee. Informant said he would accept POLLACK's support and the present Governor of Maryland, former Governors of Maryland, and Mayors of Baltimore City have accepted the support of POLLACK. Informant said when he

b7D

According to informant, in the State of Maryland high officials cannot operate very long without POLLACK.

Informant said that all POLLACK wants for his support is patronage and it has been informant's observation that POLLACK only recommends top flight men for jobs and never criminals or people of unsavory reputation.

In addition, informant advised appointments to city jobs (where D'ALESSANDRO in the past would have had power to make appointments) have to be confirmed by the Baltimore City Council, and consequently would be open for public scrutiny. Informant stated the facts are that POLLACK commands a good percentage of votes in Northwest Baltimore, and a Governor of Maryland or a Mayor of Baltimore City could not operate effectively without dealing with POLLACK. Informant pointed out that even though a Mayor or Governor accepts POLLACK's support and promises POLLACK patronage, which is what POLLACK wants, the Governor or Mayor is still in the "driver's seat" as he (Governor or Mayor) still has the final choice of making appointments and can reject POLLACK's suggestions. Informant related that he and appointee are in different political parties and stated if POLLACK offered to support him in a campaign, he would accept POLLACK's support as in Maryland you "must do business with POLLACK to be a winner".

Informant stated that doing business with or accepting POLLACK's support does not mean [REDACTED] ect or connote dishonesty or contaminate [REDACTED] with POLLACK, inasmuch as POLLACK only wants [REDACTED] says recommends excellent people for jobs.

Informant stated he personally has no knowledge of any shady or unethical dealings in the political career of the appointee and would unhesitatingly recommend appointee to a position of trust and confidence.

In conclusion, informant advised [redacted]

Interviews

Malcolm C. Moos, Professor of Political Science, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland, and former Administrative Assistant to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, advised that he has known Mr. D'Alessandro since approximately 1952 when he, Dr. Moos, was a member of a bipartisan group studying Baltimore city jail conditions. Dr. Moos stated that, in his opinion, Mr. D'Alessandro did a good job as Mayor of the City of Baltimore. Simon E. Sobeloff, Chief Judge, United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit and former Solicitor General of the United States, who was interviewed in Baltimore, Maryland, advised that he has known Mr. D'Alessandro and has followed his career for over thirty years. He described Mr. D'Alesandro as a man of the utmost integrity who is upright, honest and a devoted family man. He expressed the opinion that Mr. D'Alesandro is one of the finest persons in public life that he has ever known. He stated that he considers Mr. D'Alesandro a broad-minded person, a fair person and a man who has always conducted both his business and political affairs in an honest manner. He stated Mr. D'Alesandro has made a few political enemies, but advised that, in his opinion, Mr. D'Alesandro is loyal to his friends and associates and is unquestionably loyal to the United States. He recommended Mr. D'Alesandro for a position of trust and confidence.

R. Dorsey Watkins, Judge, United States District Court, Baltimore, Maryland, advised that he has known Mr. D'Alesandro for approximately fourteen years through limited social and business engagements. Judge Watkins stated that he has a great admiration for Mr. D'Alesandro and considers him an intelligent and diplomatic man. Judge Watkins stated that he has always found Mr. D'Alesandro to be completely reliable. He added that Mr. D'Alesandro has exhibited a real interest in community affairs and he recommended him for a position of trust and confidence.

Louis N. Phipps, Maryland State Senator, interviewed in Baltimore, Maryland, advised that he has known Mr. D'Alesandro for over thirty years and has served on numerous committees and commissions with him. Senator Phipps stated that he has found Mr. D'Alesandro to be intelligent, honest and straightforward. He pointed out that Mr. D'Alesandro is able to get along with people, "both friend and foe." Senator Phipps concluded by highly recommending Mr. D'Alesandro for a position of trust and confidence.

Louis L. Goldstein, Maryland State Comptroller, interviewed in Baltimore, Maryland, advised that he has known Mr. D'Alesandro for over twenty years, and as floor leader of the Maryland State Senate and as a member of the Legislative Council, he worked very closely with him when

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

Mr. D'Alesandro was Mayor of Baltimore. Mr. Goldstein stated that Mr. D'Alesandro was a very dedicated public official who had the "people's interest at heart." Mr. Goldstein stated that he would highly recommend Mr. D'Alesandro for any public service because of his wide experience in national, state and municipal government.

Information Concerning Alleged Association With James H. Pollack

In 1947 Mrs. William H. Baurenschmidt in a radio talk on the night before the primary election in Baltimore, Maryland, during that year pointed out that she was opposed to Thomas D'Alesandro, candidate for Mayor, because of his close association with James H. Pollack. She stated that Mr. Pollack had a record consisting of fifty-four appearances in court and eighteen convictions. She recalled an untried murder case against Mr. Pollack, which had been postponed from time to time and was finally nol-prossed by the State's Attorney.

"The Morning Sun," a Baltimore newspaper, on December 12, 1953, contained an article stating that political storms had been blowing around James H. Pollack during the twenty-five years he had been a factor in the affairs of the Democrats and sometimes of the Republicans. According to the article, Mr. Pollack was the acknowledged boss of the "Fourth District." The article indicated that Mr. Pollack was born on October 21, 1899, in Baltimore, and in the past had been an insurance broker, real estate operator, theater owner and, at one time, a pugilist. The article stated that during his early childhood Mr. Pollack and "Tommy D'Alesandro, Mayor of Baltimore," allegedly sold newspapers together and had been friends ever since except for a few short-lived political spats.

The files of the Central Records Division, Baltimore Police Department, Baltimore, Maryland, indicate that James H. Pollack had a record of fifty-one arrests during the period August, 1921, to October, 1936. These arrests were for various charges, ranging from "assault and shooting and causing death," "assault with intent to rob," "carrying deadly weapon," "larceny of auto and 110 gals. alcohol" to traffic

citations. The "assault and shooting and causing death" charge was nol-prossed. Mr. Pollack was found guilty on some of the other charges, some were dismissed, in some cases he was fined, and in one case he was found not guilty.

An individual, [redacted]

b7D

[redacted] advised that he has known Mr. D'Alesandro for over twenty-five years and recalled that he was an excellent Mayor of Baltimore. He stated that he would endorse Mr. D'Alesandro without reservation as a man of integrity. This individual volunteered information that it is his belief that over the years Mr. D'Alesandro accepted the support of James H. Pollack in political campaigns. He stated, however, that this is only an opinion and he pointed out that, in fact, he had no knowledge of any specific dealings that Mr. D'Alesandro may have had with Mr. Pollack and did not know whether Mr. D'Alesandro had solicited or received any political support from Mr. Pollack. He stated if Mr. D'Alesandro had accepted any support from Mr. Pollack, that, in his opinion, this would not imply dishonesty or anything unethical on the part of Mr. D'Alesandro. He advised that he would accept Mr. Pollack's support, and added that the present Governor of Maryland, former Governors of Maryland and Mayors of Baltimore have accepted the support of Mr. Pollack.

[redacted] He stated that in the State of Maryland high officials could not operate very long without Mr. Pollack.

He further stated that "all Pollack wants for his support is patronage" and it has been his observation that Mr. Pollack only recommends topflight men for jobs, never criminals or people of unsavory reputation.

b7D

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

In addition, he pointed out that appointments to city jobs have to be confirmed by the Baltimore City Council and, consequently, would be open for public scrutiny. He stated that "the facts are that Pollack commands a good percentage of votes in northwest Baltimore" and a Governor of Maryland or a Mayor of Baltimore could not operate effectively without dealings with Mr. Pollack. He pointed out that even though a Mayor or Governor accepts Mr. Pollack's support and promises him patronage, the Governor or Mayor still is "in the driver's seat" as he, the Governor or Mayor, still has the final choice in making appointments and can reject Mr. Pollack's suggestions. This individual related that he and Mr. D'Alesandro are members of opposite political parties and pointed out that if Mr. Pollack offered to support him in a campaign he would accept his support as in Maryland "you must do business with Pollack to be a winner." This individual stated that "doing business with or accepting Pollack's support" does not mean loss of self-respect, does not connote dishonesty, nor does it contaminate people who deal with Mr. Pollack inasmuch as "Pollack only wants patronage and always recommends excellent people for jobs."

This individual stated that he personally has no knowledge of any "shady or unethical dealings" in the political career of Mr. D'Alesandro and he would unhesitatingly recommend him for a position of trust and confidence.

Information Concerning Alleged Association With Dominic Piracci

The April 10, 1954, edition of "The Morning Sun," a Baltimore, Maryland, newspaper, contained an article indicating that Nancy D'Alesandro (Mr. D'Alesandro's wife) testified at the trial of Dominic Piracci, of the Piracci Construction Company, who was charged with conspiring to defraud the City of Baltimore and attempting to obstruct justice by falsifying and altering his company records. The article reported that Mrs. D'Alesandro was questioned concerning six Piracci Construction Company checks totaling over $11,000 which bore her endorsement, all but one of the checks being payable to her. The article stated that Mrs. D'Alesandro testified that the checks were for loans obtained from Mr. Piracci to cover personal debts contracted in business ventures. She admitted borrowing $4,500 from Mr. Piracci on October 23, 1952, contending that she repaid it within five days. Other borrowing transactions referred to were in the amounts of $1,600, $1,500, $2,030.78, $700 and $800. According to the article, Mrs. D'Alesandro stated that the $700 and $800 checks were cashed by her, but that she turned the $1,500 in cash over to [REDACTED]

The April 12, 1954, edition of "The Morning Sun" contained an article indicating that Mr. Dominic Piracci testified that all loans made to Mrs. D'Alesandro were legitimate and repaid.

The December 10, 1954, edition of "The Morning Sun" contained an article indicating that Dominic Piracci, a parking-garage builder, was convicted of conspiracy to defraud the City of Baltimore of $42,000 and attempting to obstruct justice by altering his company records. According to the article, he received a sentence of two years in jail, which was suspended, and he was fined a total of $4,000.

The files of the Central Records Division, Baltimore City Police Department, indicate that the Piracci Construction Company (Dominic Piracci, President) was fined $2,000 on December 9, 1954, on a charge of conspiring to defraud the city of Baltimore of $42,000. On the same date Dominic Piracci, as an individual, was fined $2,000 on the same charge. The files of the Baltimore Police Department further indicate that one Dominic Piracci was fined $1 and costs on October 15, 1938, on a disorderly conduct charge.

Clarence D. Long, Professor of Economics and Research Economist, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland, advised that he ran against Mr. D'Alesandro in the United States senatorial, Maryland primary election in the Spring of 1958. Dr. Long stated that he was defeated in the primary by Mr. D'Alesandro, but, continued Dr. Long, Mr. D'Alesandro subsequently was defeated by Senator J. Glenn Beall in the January election of 1958. Dr. Long stated that Mr. D'Alesandro is a person of very little formal education, but is, nevertheless, an extremely intelligent individual, who has a very penetrating mind. Dr. Long advised that Mr. D'Alesandro has a "knack" for getting things done and, in his opinion, was the best mayor the City of Baltimore ever had.

Dr. Long stated that during the period of time he opposed Mr. D'Alesandro in the senatorial campaign, he did considerable research into his background and reviewed newspaper clippings and articles published concerning Mr. D'Alesandro. Dr. Long explained that he would have used any information in his campaign that would have been critical of Mr. D'Alesandro's character, integrity, honesty or reputation. Dr. Long advised that he was unable to obtain anything tangible of an adverse nature, even in a general way, in regard to Mr. D'Alesandro. Dr. Long stated that nothing was brought to his attention during his campaign or at any other time which would be critical of Mr. D'Alesandro's character or integrity. He advised that he surely would have used anything which would have made Mr. D'Alesandro appear to be an undesirable person to fill a public office.

Dr. Long stated that Mr. D'Alesandro has the reputation of being "dollar honest." He stated that he has never heard of any association between Mr. D'Alesandro and gangsters or persons of unsavory character. Dr. Long stated that he has no knowledge of "fixes" or irregular or dishonest actions on the part of Mr. D'Alesandro.

Dr. Long pointed out that if Mr. D'Alesandro had been involved, or at fault, in any manner in the Dominic Piracci inquiry in 1954, J. . Harold Grady, present Mayor of Baltimore who was State's Attorney at that time, would have used the information in his campaign against Mr. D'Alesandro for the Mayor's Office in 1959.

Richard A. Lidinsky, former Executive Secretary to Mr. D'Alesandro, Baltimore, Maryland, advised that in 1946 Mr. Dominic Piracci and Thomas D'Alesandro were good friends, but were "not too close." Mr. Lidinsky stated that [REDACTED] and since that time Mr. D'Alesandro and Mr. Piracci have become "closer friends in the manner that Italian families sort of jell together" as a result of common background and customs.

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

Carmin J. Granese, Baltimore, Maryland, who advised that he is married to Mr. D'Alesandro's sister, stated that he did not believe Mr. D'Alesandro was closely associated with Mr. Piracci. He advised that, to the best of his knowledge, the only association between Mr. Piracci and Mr. D'Alesandro is because of [redacted]

Information Concerning Mr. D'Alesandro's Alleged Interference with Police Investigations and Prosecutions

With regard to the information received from Dwight L. Holmes (deceased), former Manager of the Baltimore branch of the Better Business Bureau, and John R. Rollman (deceased), former Captain, Western District, Baltimore Police Department, as set forth in the previous summary memorandum, the following information has been received:

Lieutenant Philip Germack, Detective Bureau, Baltimore Police Department, advised that he recalled discussing the case of William J. Orsotti with Dwight L. Holmes in the 1940's. He stated that he recalled that Mr. Orsotti had claimed to be some sort of doctor and was conducting fund-raising campaigns for organizations in Baltimore. Lieutenant Germack stated that to the best of his recollection no formal complaint was ever received concerning Mr. Orsotti. Lieutenant Germack stated that he is certain if a legitimate complaint against Mr. Orsotti had ever been received by the police department, the police department would not have withheld investigation or action for anybody, even the Governor of Maryland.

Thomas D'Alesandro, Jr.

Lieutenant Germack further stated that to the best of his knowledge the name of Thomas D'Alesandro was never mentioned in connection with Mr. Orsotti. He further stated that there has never been any indication that Mr. D'Alesandro exerted influence of any sort in connection with the Orsotti case. Lieutenant Germack concluded by stating that to the best of his knowledge Mr. D'Alesandro has never exerted any influence or interference in connection with police investigations.

Captain Wade Poole, Western District, Baltimore Police Department, advised that he clearly recalled Charles F. Cammarata, who had operated a tavern in Baltimore in the early 1940's. Captain Poole recalled specifically that he, himself, as a rookie policeman had been sent to Cammarata's tavern to secure evidence on which to arrest him for allowing "female sitters in his tavern." Captain Poole stated that Mr. Cammarata was primarily a "race horse tout" and that he had been barred from race tracks in Maryland. Captain Poole stated that he was well aware of Mr. Cammarata's activities in Baltimore and personally had arrested him at every possible opportunity. Captain Poole stated that on no occasion was there ever any mention of influence or connection of Mr. Cammarata with Mr. D'Alesandro. Captain Poole advised that he is acquainted with Mr. D'Alesandro and is certain that there was positively no connection whatever between Mr. D'Alesandro and Mr. Cammarata.

Captain Poole stated that he had never heard the late John R. Rollman mention any connection between Mr. Cammarata and Mr. D'Alesandro.

Information Concerning the Arrest of Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, Mr. D'Alesandro's Son

The August 6, 1953, edition of "The Evening Sun," a Baltimore newspaper, contained an article indicating that Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, son of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, was accused with three other young men of raping a thirteen-year-old girl. According to the article, Mr. Franklin D'Alesandro was arrested on a "John Doe" warrant issued after two girls told police they had stayed in a West Preston Street (Baltimore) apartment house and had been repeatedly assaulted by a group of young men between July 20-AND 28, 1953. The article stated that Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro was acquitted in November, 1953.
